FOREWORD

When we entered Lehigh, plans for a new telescope were evolved.

It was to be larger than any before and was to search the heavens for worlds yet unseen. New Horizons, New Realms beyond the farthest stars were to be its bent. As this huge instrument nears completion, our brief stay at Lehigh does also. As we studied the arts and sciences this same feeling filtered through us until now we too look out upon new horizons. This attitude is one so necessary to the advancement of science that it is our wish to portray this ideal in this Epitome.

DEDICATION

Lehigh Alumni—you upon the solid foundation of Asa Packer have built Lehigh, and now you have watched its development into an outstanding educational institution. It is for your vision, your planning, and your support that we here render obeisance. To new horizons we have come gradually to direct our vision, too. But to your Executive Secretary William A. Cornelius, known to all as Billy Cornelius, for his sincere interest in the welfare of Lehigh, we dedicate this volume of the Epitome as a meagre expression of our gratitude.

IN MEMORIAM

DR. STANLEY SYLVESTER SEYFERT

FLAG pole day with Lehigh men gathered on the lawn for the program. Letters are distributed by "Boscy", cups for intramural prowess by "Bart", and the senior cane given to the newly elected senior class president. As a climax to several years of extra-curricular activities men are tapped by Omicron Delta Kappa and Cyanide.

SEVENTY-FIFTH

ANNIVERSARY

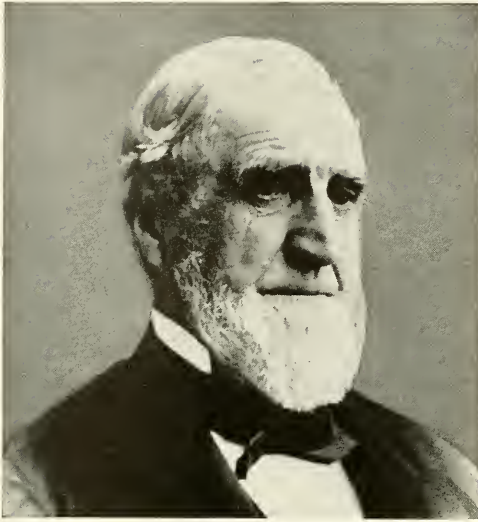

This is a history of Lehigh for alumnus and student alike, told not with facts and figures in a dry, authoritative fashion, but told in a rambling style touched with sentiment. There will be gaps as this tale moves from past to present, but let the student fill them with his imagination, and the alumnus with his memories.

Asa Packer drove a mule on the Lehigh canal. Being an industrious Yankee, he soon bought a boat and was on his way to fortune. He went into the contracting business and built canal boats; then he began buying coal mines. Politics called him, and he served in the state assembly and as a county judge. His next achievement was to build the Lehigh Valley Railroad. By 1865 this Episcopalian Democrat wished to do something for the Valley where he had become wealthy; so he founded Lehigh University.

On September 1, 1866, forty students entered Lehigh. They went to class in Christmas Hall, the only building on the campus. The Moravians had erected this structure to serve as a church; but

Asa Packer, 1806-79, his gift of $500,000 and 57 acres of land made possible the founding of Lehigh University before it could be used for this purpose, Asa Packer had bought it.

In 1869, the University moved proudly into magnificent Packer Hall. Christmas Hall became a dormitory and dining hall. Saucon Hall, erected in 1872 just east of the first building, was soon to house students also.

In 1926, these buildings were covered with stucco, and a tower was erected to join them. The result was Christmas-Saucon Hall. It is occupied by the Health Service, the Department of English, and the College of Business Administration.

Slowly the campus spread. In 1878 came the Library with its strict rules prohibiting a student from taking home one of its treasured books. The Library was erected by the Founder as a memorial to his daughter, Mrs. Lucy Packer Linderman.

the headquarters of the College of Arts and Science, in 1883, they knew it as one of the most attractive gymnasias of the country. In it Lehigh students exercised to the best theories of the day. The gymnastics of that time would be called work by today's students, but in those days men were men. They enjoyed developing their muscles on the flying trapezes, the horizontal bars, and the rings. Gymnastics was the only indoor sport. Basketball had not been invented. Boxing and wrestling were not for gentlemen.

But elsewhere the students got their activities. They fought the "townies," courted the girls, rowed on the river in summer and skated there in winter. In those days the Lehigh froze solid. They drank beer and whiskey and took an active interest in politics; especially, the presidential campaigns when they paraded in proper costume with the party of their choice. It is rumored that when proper refreshments followed the parade, students changed political affiliations with great rapidity.

Greatest popular sport both indoor and outdoor was hazing freshmen. Tradition limited the sport to the sophomores, but juniors, supposedly big brothers of the freshmen, and seniors were not above taking part. Everything went well as long as the freshmen were outnumbered; if they weren't, there was always a good fight. Outstanding rebel against hazing was Richard Harding Davis who is credited with doing more for undergraduate life than any other student.

Davis founded Arcadia, now the student governing body, as a protest against social fraternities. He wrote for the Burr, then a news publication rather than a comic monthly which it became in later years, and founded Mustard and Cheese, the dramatic society, which still packs them in despite movies. He also helped organize football and scored Lehigh's first touchdown in 1884 in a game against Lafayette. Finally, despite the presence on the faculty of his uncle (Hugh Wilson Harding, professor of physics), he was expelled for drunkenness.

Football developed at Lehigh because it was a rough and tumble game. Today one hears of the great Lehigh teams of the past, but the records fail to reveal one. Most of the years show more defeats than victories, and never was there an undefeated Lehigh team. But Lehigh is still credited with developing the flying wedge. This play has been banned for many years because of the damage it did to both the opposition and the men using it, but it was a suitable weapon then for Lehigh men whom Lafayette rooters of that era will assure you came to the football field directly from the plant of the Bethlehem Iron Company.

But Lehigh wasn't entirely devoid of the spiritual life. When Asa Packer founded the University, he furnished the money; but Bishop William Bacon Stevens of the Episcopal church furnished the culture and the brains. Bishop Stevens became one of the charter trustees, and ever since, the bishop of the Bethlehem diocese of the Episcopal church has been a member of that body. In 1887, when the Packer chapel was erected, stained glass windows added to the beauty of its interior. Present were the proper vestments and altar cloths required for the Episcopal service which was conducted each Sunday. A vested choir of Lehigh students sang then as well as at the regular student services during the week. The services became so popular that at the request of pastors in the town they were discontinued.

For years new buildings kept springing up on the campus, but finally there came a time when one had to go. It was the Physics building which went in a blaze that attracted people from miles around. The fire followed an explosion

The guy with the cigarette isn't Groucho Marx. He is only a brave hazer startled by the BOOM of the flash powder which occurred while Professor William S. Franklin, eminent physicist, was doing some research with gases. From the old stones, the present building was erected.

As Lehigh grew older so did its reputation as a center of learning grow greater. This was especially true of its engineering college. When Lehigh was founded, there were many colleges of liberal arts, but engineering colleges were fewer than a dozen. The industrial expansion that followed the Civil War created a demand for engineers; and consequently no Lehigh engineer had to worry about a job, for even the worst had a choice. In a few years, Lehigh alumni held important positions throughout the country. These alumni in turn contributed liberally of time and money to their alma mater.

Such an alumnus was Charlie Taylor. Students will associate the name Taylor with the stadium, and Taylor hall. But few know that Taylor hall was given to Lehigh by Andrew Carnegie. Charlie Taylor had worked with Andrew Carnegie in developing the steel industry; so it is only natural that in considering Lehigh's needs for a dormitory he should turn to his old friend for assistance. Carnegie gladly made the gift but insisted that the building should bear the name of the Lehigh alumnus rather than his own.

In 1899, Mustard and Cheese presented a three-act comedy, "The Gutta Percha Girl." Several of the cast were to win fame, but not as actors. Seated third from the right is Lehigh Trustee Robert Farnham and at his left is Tom Girdler.

The "Dorms", as they were soon called, were an important addition to the Lehigh plant. They made possible group social life for students who had neither the money nor opportunity to join a fraternity. Though the dorms usually had a higher scholastic rating than most of the fraternities, they became similar in other respects. They had the hazing episodes and "Hell Weeks" of the fraternities, and some said the dorms were worse.

They were always strong in support of school activities, and to this day, Taylor strings its "Beat Lafayette" banner across the quad a week before the big contest and the frosh still guard it day and night until the big game starts.

With the coming of the twentieth century, Lehigh prospered. The Chandler Chemistry Laboratory was erected in 1885, and Williams Hall followed in 1903. Then came a social hall, Thomas M. Drown Memorial Hall, erected in 1908 as a memorial to Lehigh's fourth president. The University Commons were opened in 1907. The Wilbur, Fritz and Coxe laboratories were added to give Lehigh a leading position in the engineering education world. In 1909 Sayre Park was opened, and the campus assumed the form which it has retained more or less to the present day.

the changing social scene, the athletic picture changed. By 1910, Lehigh athletes were participating in baseball, track, football, lacrosse, tennis, basketball, and gymnastics. Wrestling soon followed. Alumni started to take an interest in athletics, and control of intercollegiate sports passed from the hands of the students into the hands of the faculty and alumni. The professional coach appeared to drill teams to perfection and to take the blame for all defeats. Lehigh had its share of defeats, especially in football which by this time was the recognized major sport in practically every college.

In the fall of 1910, a banquet was given for the football team in the Commons. Main speaker was a young alumnus named Gene Grace. He said,

“We have not the competitive material at Lehigh. Desirable athletes come here, but they do not always remain long. I think it is the duty of the men in college to legitimately help keep such men in college. I believe there has started among the alumni body a movement that will help you get good men and keep them here. I know Dr. Drinker will do his share of the work, and the Trustees will do theirs.”

With the war, Lehigh expanded. Camp Coppee, named for Lehigh's first president, a West Point graduate, trained men for the engineering corps. Of Lehigh's alumni, 1921 entered the service, 46 were killed. As a memorial to these men, the alumni erected the building which now houses administration and alumni offices. The Students Army Training Corps came to stay as the Reserve Officers Training Corps. The College of Business Administration became the third college on the campus. Enrollment went up. Fraternities started to move to the campus, and more nationals chartered chapters. Students lost interest in walking or riding trolleys, and a strange device called the automobile invaded the campus.

It was the automobile that made possible the largest gift which Lehigh received during the 1920's. James Ward Packard, M.E. '84, who had founded the Packard Motor Car Company and made a fortune, provided $1,200,000 for the Packard Laboratory of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering. At its dedication in October 1930, one year after the Science has not yet cured unemployment, but Lehigh men still hope for the future. Careful administration has kept Lehigh “out of the red,” and endowment has increased each year. New courses are rostered, and enrollment has gone over 1,800. The graduate school grows in importance.

Student life has changed. Wrestling has become the most successful sport. Debating, music, dramatics and publications are important activities. Tuition is more expensive, but scholarships and NYA aid the needy student.

The Department of buildings and grounds keeps everything looking spick and span. Christmas and Saucon Halls are now one. The Chemistry building has a new modern wing. The present Library practically conceals the original structure. The Charles Russ Richards House, named for Lehigh’s sixth president, has partially solved the housing problem; final solution will come this summer with completion of the Henry Sturgis Drinker House, named for the fifth president. Grand finale to Lehigh of the 1930’s will be the Eugene G. Grace Hall, a sports arena and armory, which will make possible the restoration of the Armory to its original use, that of a College Commons.

Master of all he surveys from his office window. President Clement C. Williams takes advantage of a lull in the day's activity to gaze proudly over the broad expanse of the campus. To him the view is quite different than to any casual observer as he sees buildings planned only in his mind. With Richards House occupied, Drinker House well under way, and Grace Hall finished on the architect's drawing board (but all three to him complete) he ponders on the next step in the development of the future Lehigh when possibly new structures will rise over the crest of South Mountain.

WILLIAM CORNELIUS, M.E. JOHN I. KIRKPATRICK, B.S.
Exec. Secretary of Alumni Assoc. Assistant to the President

When Lehigh University was opened, President Henry Coppee was personally acquainted with each of its forty students. There were no deans, none was needed as Dr. Coppee, a West Point graduate, enforced the strictest discipline. For the one building and huge forest-like campus, there was no department of building and grounds, and the one janitor did rather well. Summer school was not needed because the students were smart enough to pass during the regular school year, and the engineering departments could teach everything necessary in that time. A placement bureau would have been superfluous when the leading industries were overbidding each other to get Lehigh men. And a bursar would have had a sinecure because tuition was free until 1892.

Those were the happy days, but they are gone forever. They went when the enrollment rose above the thousand mark. Today Lehigh must have an administrative staff if educational life is to go on undisturbed. Few students realize this, and few are acquainted with the members of this staff. Yet day after day, these executives carry on their work in such a way that Lehigh remains a great educational institution. For securing such results, they can receive but one grade on their annual report. For Lehigh's student body, we give them the grade we seldom get, straight "A".

TYPICAL SCENES

ARTS CLASSES

Comes a student to Lehigh from a prep school in the high rocky mountains. At the drop of a hat he is willing to defend his state. However, one of the faculty members takes him into hand and shows him that this is a university where the individual is king. He is allowed to elect all of the snap courses he cares to and even to eliminate those cursed eight-o'clocks. Life is glorious and he has not a care in the world. He plays soccer and fills his lungs with the good old Bethlehem air. Before he has had time to think of books or professors those grim mid-semesters roll around and when valentines come out, he is on probation for the second half of the semester. Nothing daunted he lightly troops on. Galloping through the courses he is very much surprised when all the work suddenly comes due at once and he must rack his brains for the answers. Then come exams and needless to say he does miserably. The end of the tale is obvious and also is it obvious that not everyone can go to an arts college and simply attend classes. Usually both of the other colleges look upon the arts school as an easy place where there is no studying, but those who know realize that this school is not the most likely place to have a good time. It is really designed to educate the student thoroughly in the various divisions of the arts and sciences.

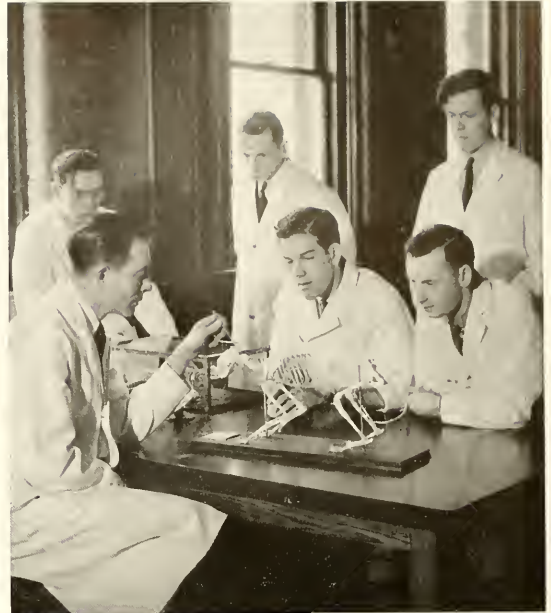

Beneath Freshman drawing rooms in the musty cellars of Packer Hall good men are treated like guinea pigs for the sake of Prof. Jenkins' psychology lab. An attempt made to correlate the speed of gum chewing against reading Sunday papers.

Placed conveniently close to the card catalog is the salvation of most students who venture into the library for reference work—the librarian's desk. Without the aid of those behind this desk an attempt to unravel the mysteries of the card catalog, numbering system, and stacks would be baffling to many.

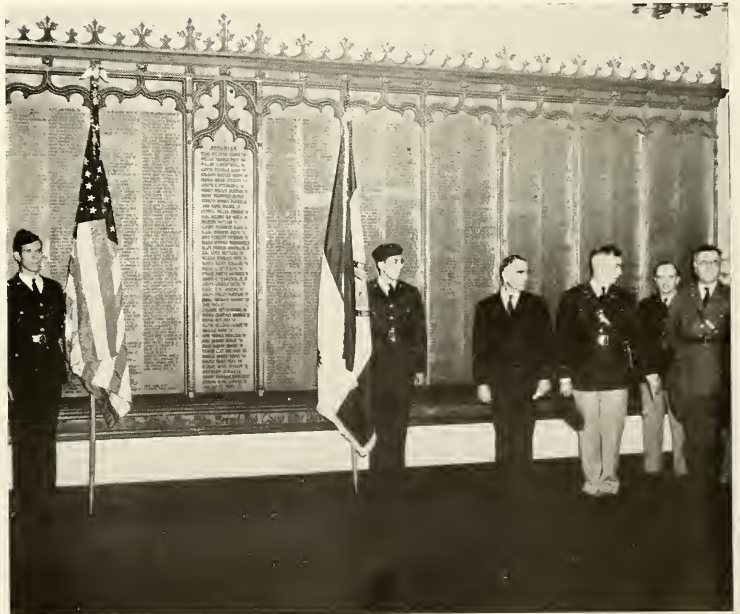

One of the hardest situations for many people is speaking before a public audience. At Lehigh the speech class helps the students to conquer this fear.

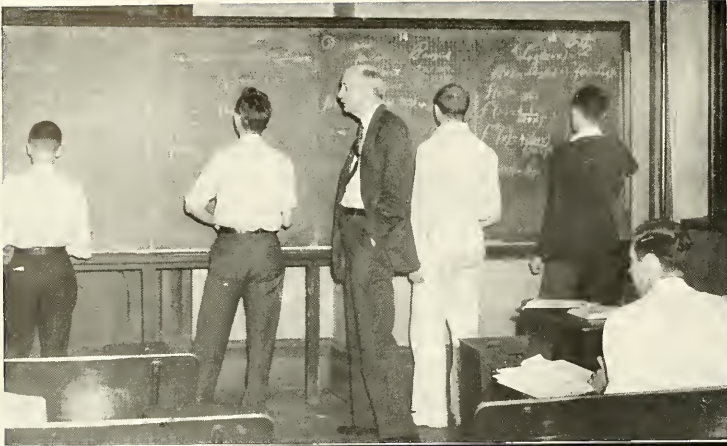

In preparation for more intensified work the pre-meds at Lehigh spend much of their time in the biology lab. Here the examples of Koch and Pasteur are studied carefully by those desiring proficiency in microbe hunting.

Things to be kept in the closet when the guests come—skeletons of cute little animals. Students interested in the why and wherefore of them do not bother about their ghostly properties but study them for their intrinsic values.

Dr. Thomas of the bacteriology department works on a specimen. Be it plant or animal, male or female the odds are in favor of the Dactor rather than the object.

On the south wall of the Alumni Memorial Building is a plaque with names of all who served in the wars of the nation from this university. Every Armistice Day the army men of this university gather to honor those men. Here we see them at their posts respectfully watching the flog of the nation and listening to taps.

When the math prof gets that gleam in his eye it can mean only one thing, "go to the board," a pitfall for the students when they are caught unprepared.

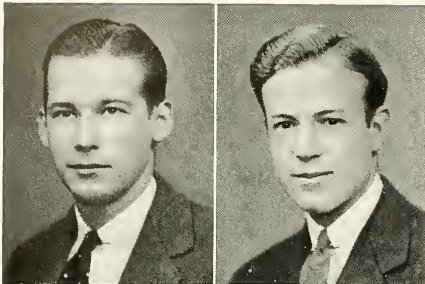

History seminar classes are just the place for informal class discussions, but be it history or politics still the prof winds up on the winning side of the talk.

An arts man uses a slide rule! practically impossible, but here is proof that in the math courses the slide rule is a mighty handy weapon.

TYPICAL POSES OF BUSINESS STUDENTS

Comes a boy from a large high school in New York City. He registers for all of the good courses advised by the Dean of the College, and then surprised by the lack of afternoon classes, he spends the time in the movies. However, with merely lectures in which he diligently takes notes he marvels at how lucky he is. The first quizzes come and these true-false statements just will not behave. Now the worst is over and with a little luck and the proper application he easily passes the subjects with flying colors. Graduation looms in the distance, and he finds that if he had chosen another field his father's firm would gladly take him in. But of course, coming from Lehigh he has no trouble so that in no time he is making his own living.

Dean Carothers, above, carefully checks the balance sheet of each senior in the college of Business Administration before the end of his college career.

The scenes shown below of work on investments and statistics are more typical of those to be found during the semester in Christmas Saucon Hall.

The best spot on the campus to pick up the latest "dope" is the steps by "Hyphen Hall", the convening spot of businessmen between classes.

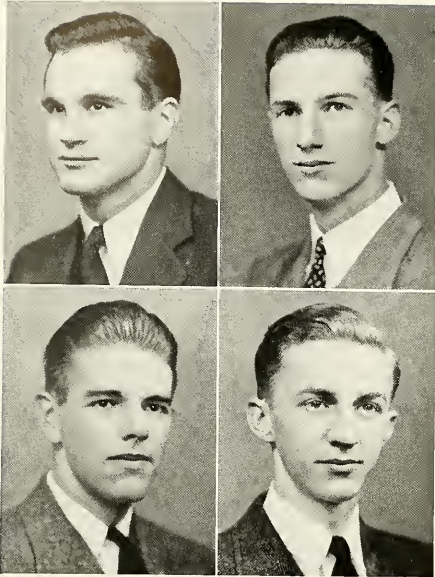

Few business men take life too seriously, and the one pictured here is certainly no exception to the general rule. No time for this in the engineering college.

The results of hours of labor are recorded on the bulletin board of the business department after an hour quiz. The worried looks are probably for very good reasons.

TYPICAL SCENES

ENGINEERING CLASSES

Comes a student from the manufacturing center of Newark imbibed with the ideals of the engineering profession and aspiring to become a great engineer. Lehigh is the best engineering school and I am going to become a mechanical engineer, says he. Immediately, he learns that all students in engineering take the same subjects so he impatiently waits for the first day of classes. Equipped with all of the necessary paraphernalia he attends his first class. All the students are herded into a large classroom where the professor looks over the new crop with that certain glint in his eye. Soon the semester gets rolling and with lesson assignments to prepare time is very valuable, but when he budgets his time, he finds he does not have nearly enough. However, weeks slip by and midsemesters appear upon the horizon. Realizing that he must study harder than ever, he applies himself and skims through. Christmas arrives and he goes home to tell of the wonderful advantages of a college education. Home folks are full of enthusiasm, he comes back with renewed vigor, and exams fall by the wayside. With these fundamentals well in hand working becomes easier. The long seige continues until now our young protege is about to be graduated. Then all the kin folk make a big fuss before he enters this wily world.

This facsimile machine is a device for printing pictures as received from the broadcasting station via the radio waves. Every evening after the regular broadcast is over a Philadelphia station presents this service and Lehigh has been quite willing to use it.

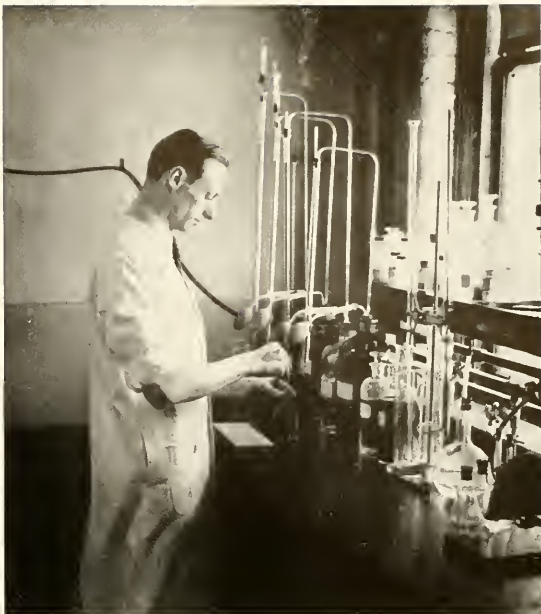

Professor Alpha A. Diefenderfer, the sophomore "Chem's" only friend, gives his perspiring proteges their daily lesson in the "most elegant" methods of quantitative analysis. "Dief" long ago established his reputation for being the fastest lecturer in the University. The Student Chemical Society owes much of its success to his untiring efforts and interest.

Stresses and strains by the dozen—tensions and compressions by the thousands of pounds, and still they must go to class later to grasp the fundamentals.

It is a rare sight to see two Lehigh men up a tree but in this case there is a good reason for it. The men shown are giving a practical demonstration in safety precautions for a lecturer.

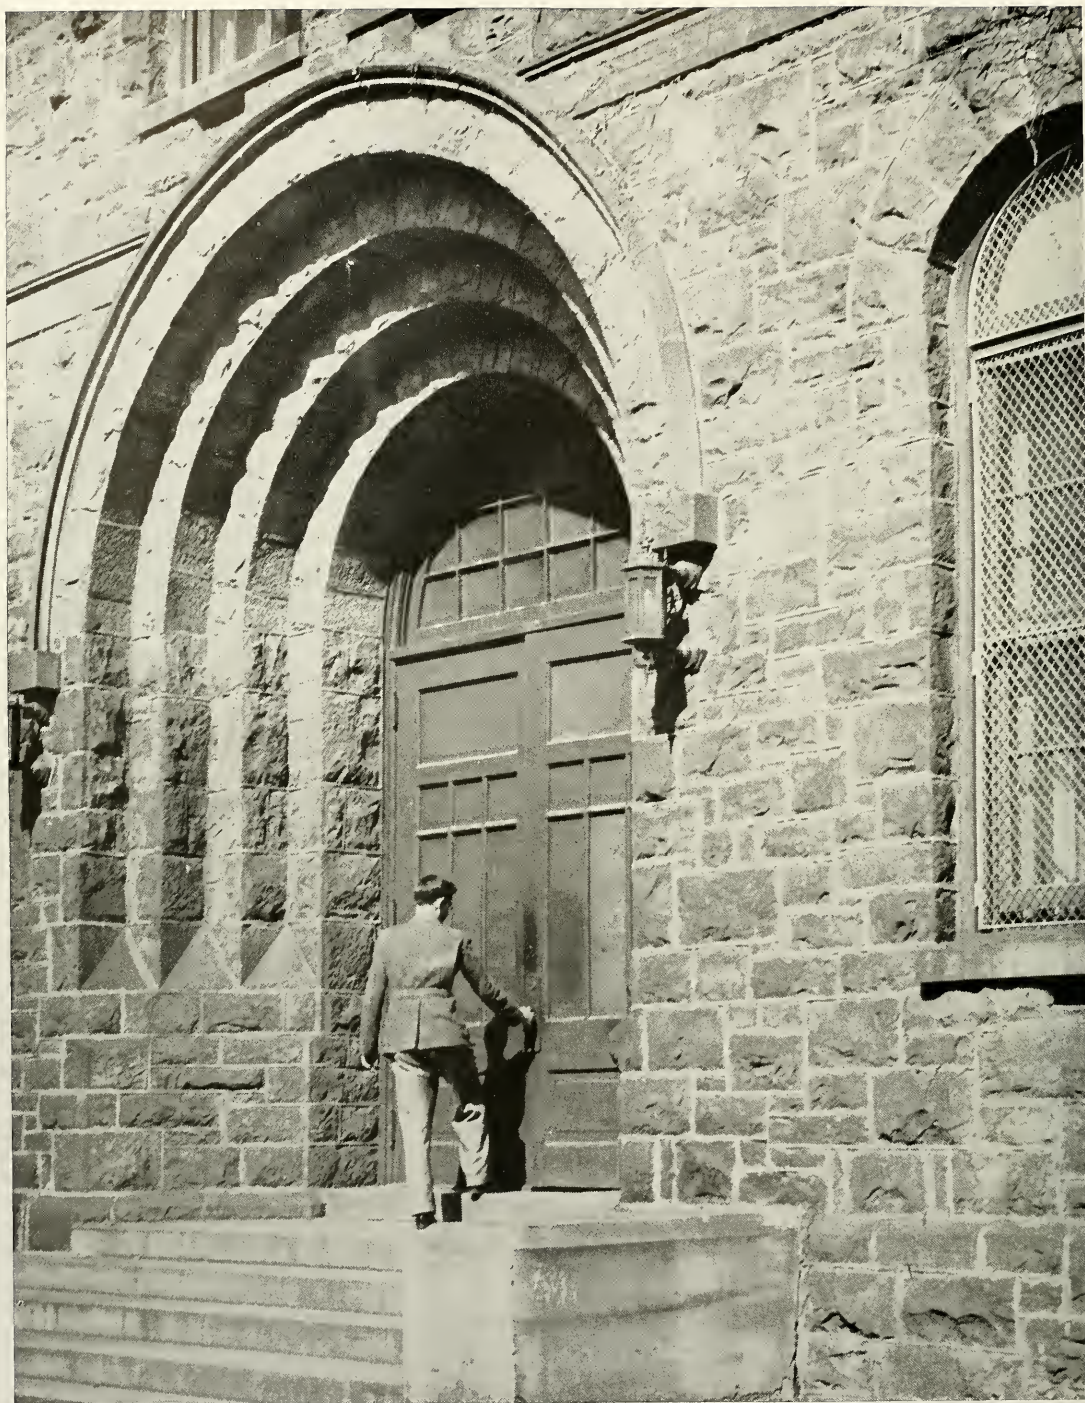

The uniformity of the products of chemical industry is insured by careful analytical control. At Lehigh the importance of analytical chemistry is fully realized and adequately stressed in the chemistry curriculum by means of classroom theory and actual laboratory practice.

Long noted for keeping up with the most modern practices in industry, Lehigh recently installed a new course for Freshmen in semi-micro qualitative analysis shown above.

Midwinter and sunshine on the Packard Laboratory steps—practically on unheard of thing. At noontime the mechanical engineers step out of the building to bask in the sun while waiting for the photographer. Notice the informality of the group once the classes are over. Even the professors seem relieved.

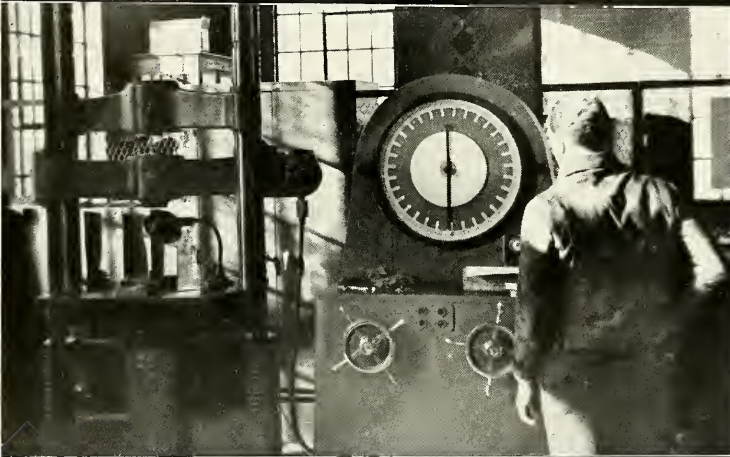

A STUDENT OPENS THE DOOR TO CHEMICAL KNOWLEDGE

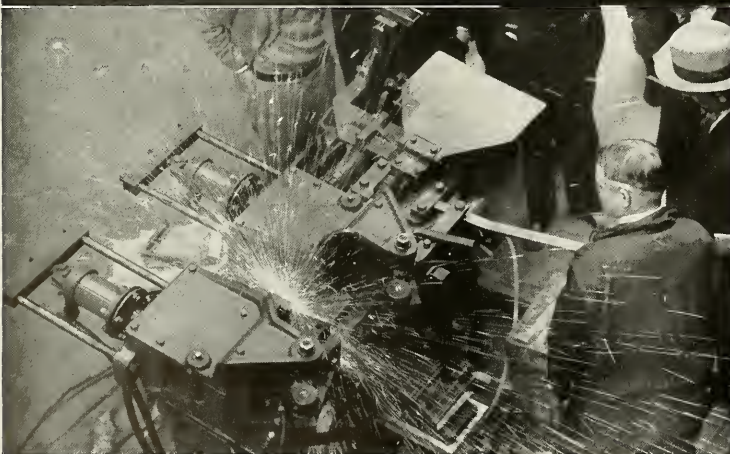

PACKARD LABORATORY REFLECTS THE MORNING SUNSHINE

The testing of commercial building materials is constantly being carried out in the Fritz Engineering Laboratory, to show the students their relative value. Here we see a beam undergoing a test.

Among the varied equipment of Fritz Laboratory is a machine for determining the tensile strength of materials. The opportunity to use such machinery personally is one of the many advantages of a Lehigh education.

The many aspects of the field of welding are fully taught in Lehigh's welding laboratory located in Williams Hall. The machine shown in operation is an electrical butt welder.

The Class of 1940

The Class of 1940, popularly known as the "Roaring 40's", leaves Lehigh in much the same manner as when it entered four years ago, breaking records to the right and to the left. The first record to go by the board was that of being the largest class ever to be admitted, and probably our last record as undergraduates will be in the number graduating. In between these records, and in the years to come, we have made and will make many more solid and enduring marks for succeeding classes to shoot at.

Our classmates have been outstanding in every phase of collegiate activity. We lead the many and varied clubs and societies, and in athletics we have done even more than our share, both in participation and in support. Under our leadership the annual class banquet has been revived as a Lehigh tradition.

As freshmen we endured "Hell Week" (it was that to us despite the Dean), as sophomores and juniors we aided in "Heck Week", and finally as seniors we supervised "Greek Week." Many other trials have beset us—exams, valentines, comprehensives, etc.—but all have been met in turn and conquered. But far more important and enduring to us are those intangible values which we have gained: the many friendships, the good fellowship of the class as a unit, the associations, with the faculty and classmates, and the advantages of a rounded education.

May the years to come see us all fulfill the great promise shown by our work and play here, and may we gather together often in the common bond of our class associations. Roar, you 40's, and Best of Luck!

SENIORS IN FOUR YEARS

In 1936 came a horde of hungry mongrels—hungry for knowledge to Lehigh—with high hopes in their hearts and ladders into the clouds. Some were to be engineers, some to be art majors in fields of science akin to the ancient arts, and others to be hard cruel businessmen.

After passing the rigorous examinations both mental and physical in which everybody participated, the class of 1940 settled down to a quiet life as freshmen. Perhaps it was not too quiet, but in effect we were learning that it is sometimes better to be seen than to be heard. The school took its toll from our number through the years, and we who are here to tell the tale can remember former Dean McConn's very words, "Look to the left of you and look to the right of you, after four years only one of you will be left." How true he was. Although time goes on and the faculty do their best, still the students drop from the ranks by the droves.

When looking back upon the situation, everyone can remember how important we felt upon the completion of the first year. The sophomore year was spent in development and learning with the ultimate goal still as graduation day. Of course, no stones were left unturned by which we could have fun, but still the ways of the world were new to us.

Came time for the ladder to reach the junior year, and we proceeded with no misgivings in our hearts. By now the years rolled by with increasing speed as we saw the end drawing near. We began to take a more active part in the affairs of the school and were rewarded in like kind. We began to branch out in the various activities and honoraries. All sorts of records were broken, scholastically, athletically, and numerically. By the end of the junior year we were prepared to take over the reins and run the school from the point at which the class of 1939 had left it. Here we see our three times class president, Al Cox, taking over the symbol of power.

Now the class is on the top of the heap and we hope to have produced all that was necessary for the professors and even more if that would have been possible. Our short stay in Lehigh is over, but we leave behind fond memories of the days in which we could walk about the campus without a care in the world. Then one hot day in June our sojourn at Lehigh came to an end with the final notes of the Alma Mater.

Everyone runs the gauntlet, but the needle wins

Notice the firm hold that Al Cox has on that cane

Commencement taps—men of leisure at last

The Senior Ball

Over 500 couples started the festivities of the school year by attending the Senior Ball on October 20, 1939. Two top bands insured the dance of being one of the high spots of Lehigh's social life.

Al Donahue with Paula Kelly and Phil Brito doing the vocalizing played in the lower ballroom of the Hotel Bethlehem for the amusement of the "sweet" music lovers but with "swing" thrown in for variety. Van Alexander "tore it down" in the upper ballroom with the assistance of Phillis Kinney as the vocalist. Both orchestras presented a fine performance in specialties and straight music which pleased both the "ghandi dancers" and the "jitterbugs."

At the Senior Ball given by the class of '39 the Lehigh banner was stolen from the hotel. The class of '39 bought another one for the hotel, and this year an anonymous package appeared in the Brown and White office three days before the dance much to the surprise of the committee. Thus there were two banners displayed in the dance hall. Since then the second banner has been given to the school for subsequent use, but to some honorable man—our thanks.

The committee with J. L. Matteson as chairman, Al Collins, Wallace P. Watkins, and C. Budd Heisler presented the dance to the class so that with its support the night was a successful one. The chaperones were Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Williams, Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Congdon, and Dr. and Mrs. C. G. Beardslee.

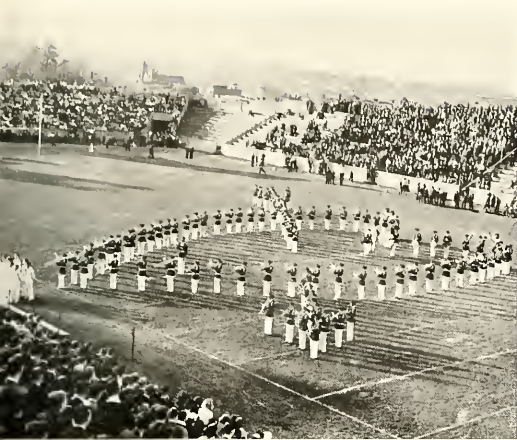

In this manner the "Roaring Forties" bowed out of Lehigh's social life by starting the first big weekend with a "Bang".

Saturday, the guests talk of the Senior Ball

Joe Matteson takes it in his stride
Topic of the day was "Jitterbug Circle"

Everyone knows that houseparty is the time for cupid to shoot his arrows, but it remains for the band to bring this to the foreground

Before the big night the committee does more work than you can shake a stick at. Even with no hitches at all still they meet often to ensure the ball's success.

A dreamy crowd on a moonlight night with soft music means romance in any tongue

The Senior Poll

The Majority Picks the Winner

The Senior Poll, these ten pictures of the outstanding seniors, designates those men who have distinguished themselves among their classmates. They have been better than the average man in all phases of college activity. These seniors have not stayed home and read Plato, but they have gone out and done more pertaining to those "good old college days." Not only are they good mixers, but they have also studied on the sly, so to speak. To be brief, they have learned how to apportion their time and take advantage of the opportunities offered.

In the 1939 Epitome were pictured those students and faculty members who were elected to the Who's Who of America. This year it was felt that this means of selection was not representative class opinion and as such this disturbing factor was eliminated as much as possible. Since the class started the tradition of a class banquet every year, this seemed to be a good time at which to hold an election. Accordingly, at this banquet a poll was taken in which those present were asked to vote for their fellow classmates. The outstanding men of the class—May you ever be as successful as here at Lehigh.

Although there are many who were a bit more worried about Maennerchor 10 than is proper, we look up to Jules Morean as our Most Conscientious Student.

A good man, is "Andy" Myhr, although he does get along with books better than the common rabble does, it is logical that a Phi Beta should be voted the Most Studious.

Voting has not made Al Cox the man who Did the Most for Lehigh. During four years he has done that as our leader in sports, politics, and student government.

J. J. McFadden, better known as "Mac", earned the dubious honor of being the class's Best Talker by appreciating and developing Christmas-Saucon "bull" sessions.

At Lehigh competition is still in all fields, but Al Bodine with his personality and aggressiveness has easily become noted as the class of '40's Best Politician.

Dance steps come and swing may go, but at all gay occasions we've seen "Wally" Watkins in the "groove" as a ladies man and our Outstanding Socialite.

"Doug" Paul—at Lacrosse, Hockey, and Wrestling easy-going but efficient, at "Joe's" efficient but also very sociable. Our natural choice for Best Personality.

Limited by the fact that there are only three sport seasons "Herb" Feucht—our Best Athlete—has contented himself with Football, Basketball, and Track.

Among other things "F" Gluck is blessed with a sense of humor and letters from his girl. These two alone are enough to rank him as Class Wit number one.

"Rod" Turner was chosen by the class as the Best Dressed. A good choice even if it was made by a class who will wear anything from overalls to "tails" to class.

THE SENIOR BANQUET

The Senior Banquet was held at the Hotel Bethlehem in March according to an ancient custom revived by the Class of 1940. This banquet was held for a double purpose: to gather the members of the class for fun and frolic, and to accomplish urgent class business.

The main speaker of the evening was Dr. Clothier, President of Rutgers University, who spoke on the subject of the athletic policy among the Middle Three Colleges.

Perhaps the most important business confronting the class was the question of the class gift to the school upon graduation. To help the class "Okey" told the students of the features of the insurance plan in which the members of the class contract for a certain amount of insurance payable to Lehigh. They pay certain annual fees for twenty years, and then present some worthwhile gift. Other items upon which the class voted were to shorten the period of graduation exercises, for an outdoor graduation, and the Senior Poll.

The chairman of the committee was Alfred Bodine who was supported by Bob Carey, James Richardson, and Al Ponter.

Class of 1941

Under the guidance of Albert E. Lee, Jr. and with the assistance of Augustus A. Riemondy, the class of 1941 has completed another successful year at Lehigh University. On the first night of Spring Houseparty weekend, a brilliant Junior Prom was staged in the new Empire Ballroom, a site which won favor at the Interfraternity Ball. The affair, which was held on April 19, 1940, was fostered by the committee whose chairman Robert L. Stubbings was ably assisted by Augustus A. Riemondy, in charge of location, Edward D. Heins, who hired the band, and C. Denis Gilchrist, advertising. The Class of 1941 sponsored a banquet for its members at the Hotel Bethlehem on May 2, 1940.

The President of the Junior class, AL LEE, is probably telling GUS RIEMONDY that he must wait for the night of the Junior Prom until he can say that all is well. But on such a moonlight night no doubt all the girls will be just so.

On a sunny morning in May the university holds its flag pole exercises. They use this opportunity to hold all functions common to everybody in the school: sports awards are made, prizes and champions are announced, the band plays, and various societies pledge their new members.

Class of 1942

The largest freshman class in the history of the school entered in the fall of 1938. In the spring of '39, after the gradual formation of class unity, this vast group of students heretofore known as the Class of '42 elected its officers and became officially recognized as the Sophomore Class of Lehigh University. The spirit of the class was borne out when it revived for the Lehigh undergraduates a social affair which had been dormant for several years. The "Sophcopation", as we called our dance, was a great success with Henry Busse furnishing the music for more than 500 dancers. We are able to look back upon the first half of our college career with fond memories and are eagerly anticipating our remaining two years at Lehigh.

ART RICH is agreeing with ROBERT GUSDORFF, President of the Sophomore class, that their "Sophcopation" was just the high spot of the year. Might it be said that judging by the response it was quite an affair. The Junior Varsity team plays the freshmen on Founder's Day. (Below)

FOUNDER'S DAY

Evidently the Freshman Class threw custom to the wind when they vanquished the sophomores in the traditional Founder's Day Sports. The freshmen got off to an early lead by capturing the football game, 15-0. Not to be outdone, the sophomore trackmen came back to win the mile relay by a wide margin and thereby tied the series at 1-1. The three remaining contests went to the Frosh with the exception of the push-ball game which resulted in a tie. Modesty caused the class of '42 to default the pants-tearing contest, and after the Frosh had successfully "outyanked" the Sophs in the tug-of-war, the class of '45 wound up with a 3-1 win.

STUDENT LIFE

IN the winter the campus usually lies beneath a thick blanket of snow which turns it into this weird and yet strangely beautiful scene. With football in the past and spring yet to come, studies become the topic of the day, and one-half of the students make their way to their fraternities for the nightly battle with the books.

Known at Lehigh for his leadership Walter Russell was co-captain of Soccer and is now president of Interfraternity Council. He personally sponsored the new publication concerning the fraternities at Lehigh that was given to the freshmen as they entered freshman week.

Jim Roberts came from Pittsburgh to become one of the off-campus fraternity leaders. Rather quiet, but like Teddy Roosevelt, he has plenty on the ball. As secretary of the council he acts to save time on all occasions and provides the communication to the members.

Dick Jeffery does not need to be earmarked for he has done that for us already. Elected treasurer because everyone knew him from the time when we first landed at Bethlehem. A Lambda Chi Alpha yet he still is a friend to each and every other classmate.

The Interfraternity Council is the oldest of the three living group organizations on the campus. It was organized by the heads of the various fraternities who met and appointed a committee to draw up a constitution for the council. This constitution was presented to the council and was adopted on May 28, 1919. Since that time numerous changes have been made to bring the rushing rules up to date and to increase the efficiency of the organization.

The purposes of the council as stated in the constitution are "to promote a more intimate friendship between the various fraternities and the student body, to develop closer relationships among fraternities at Lehigh by means of Interfraternity athletics and affairs, to lend a wider support to all university functions, and to attempt to further promote the welfare of the University in general."

In pursuit of this end, the council assumes numerous responsibilities. It arranges all house parties and presents one of the leading social functions of the school year, the Interfraternity Ball. It encourages and sponsors interfraternity competition in all sports and donates cups to the winners of these contests. The establishment and enforcement of all rushing rules is in the hands of the council for the benefit of both freshmen and fraternities.

One of the most beneficial projects which the council put into effect is the "Solicitors' Authorization Plan" established last year, whereby all salesmen and peddlers must obtain a card of admittance before soliciting fraternity or dormitory trade. This year the council published a rushing booklet for the benefit of incoming freshmen to familiarize them with the fraternities at Lehigh. The current council project is that of cooperative coal-buying for the fraternities.

TYPICAL SCENES

FRATERNITY LIFE

Good fellowship is the keynote of fraternity life at Lehigh. It must be when such a large number of different personalities are thrown together into the close relationship of fraternity brothers. This spirit has resulted in the well knit and congenial groups found all over Lehigh's campus. They have contributed much to the university and will continue to do so.

When one looks on the past years, there are a few incidents that stand out in bold relief in our minds: our first house party, hell week and initiation, spring with sunbaths and Sunday parades—these are fond memories. But the daily routine of the fraternity house is the most persistent memory of our social life in college. From the moment we awake in the morning, through classes, activities, sports, and the social life of the evening, until we go to bed again, we come in contact with the fraternity at every turn. It is our college home for four years of our undergraduate life, and it, with the social contacts it makes possible, becomes, in later life, one of the most cherished memories of our college days.

It's dinner time at the house. These men seem to be enjoying the meal as they discuss their favorite topic—women.

The evening is young and three dates seem to be in order. The blind date is truly a college institution, but what will the girl back home say?

Catching up on their back reading—with newspaper and magazine, these fraternity men are relaxing after dinner before going upstairs to study for tomorrow's mid semester quiz.

Singing is a favorite pastime in the average Lehigh fraternity. These men have gathered around the piano to practice their pet tunes before house party.

Our mascot seems to be misbehaving. Many of the fraternities have dogs that follow the fellows to class and keep an eye open all night.

ALPHA CHI RHO

— — — — has as its birthplace Trinity College at Hartford, Connecticut. The fraternity was founded June 4, 1895, by Rev. Paul Ziegler, William A. Cardley, C. G. Ziegler, and William A. Rouse. Since then it has experienced steady growth.

Phi Mu Chapter of Alpha Chi Rho at Lehigh was organized in 1918. Its origin may be traced to the local fraternity, Theta Delta Psi, which had been founded several years before that time. This local fraternity petitioned Alpha Chi Rho for a charter, and Phi Mu Chapter was installed.

Phi Mu has been well represented in extra-curricular activities. At the present time it numbers among its members varsity lettermen in soccer, swimming, football, and tennis. In publications, it has the associate editor, assistant editor, and art editor of the Review and the business manager of the Brown and White. The managers of the varsity tennis and basketball teams and the manager of the freshman football team are Alpha Chi Rho men. The president of Mustard and Cheese and other members of this dramatic club are also Alpha Chi Rhos.

ALPHA KAPPA PI

— — — — entered upon its career as a national organization on March 25, 1926, when representatives from Phi Delta Zeta, which had been founded at the University of Vermont in 1922, and from Alpha Kappa Pi met to combine forces under a common aim and purpose.

In 1927, a group of Lehigh students joined together for the purpose of creating a living group which had aims similar to those of Alpha Kappa Pi. This group existed as a local organization until 1929, when, realizing the advantages to be gained by membership in a national organization, the group petitioned Alpha Kappa Pi Fraternity for a charter. As a result, Nu Chapter was founded in February 1950, with the initiation of 26 men.

Nu Chapter has been well represented in the honoraries and the various clubs of the university. In addition, Alpha Kappa PIs have played important parts in athletics. Joseph Amborgi and Emmet White played on the football team and Harry Boyer proved himself a valuable member of Lehigh's wrestling team.

ALPHA TAU OMEGA

— — — — was founded on September 11, 1865 at Richmond, Virginia. It was the first fraternity founded after the Civil War and was projected as a national organization, starting in the South. The first northern chapter was chartered at the University of Pennsylvania in 1881. Growth was rapid after this, and the fraternity now has 78 active chapters and more than 36,000 members. Alpha Tau Omega established the Pennsylvania Alpha Rho Chapter at Lehigh in 1882. In 1916 the present chapter house was built in Sayre Park.

Many of the ATO's are active on the campus. In athletics, they are represented in wrestling by Tommy King, 1959 Eastern Intercollegiate champion, by Captain Jack O'Meara in swimming, by Phil Woodroof and Paul Havenstein in lacrosse, and by Bob Craig in soccer. Bob Ryan is on the golf team, Alex Wiggan plays on the hockey team, and in track Paul Seiler and Bob Craig are outstanding. Alpha Tau Omega men are found in such honorary societies as Alpha Kappa Psi, Scabbard and Blade, Brown Key, the Newtonian Society, and Cyanide of which Craig is secretary.

BETA KAPPA

— — — — was founded in February, 1901, at Hamline University, St. Paul, Minnesota. Since its foundation, Beta Omicron Sigma Kappa Fraternity has been locally known as Beta Kappa, and as such it was incorporated in 1912. A committee on expansion was created in 1925. Expansion, starting in the West, came East in 1925. During its life of 58 years, Beta Kappa has grown to a total of 48 chapters. The Lehigh University Chapter, originally a local fraternity known as Omega Phi Sigma of Beta Kappa, was installed as Alpha Sigma of Beta Kappa in May, 1954.

Beta Kappa's present group offers an excellent example of the well-rounded fraternity. Among its members are an assistant editor of the Review, photographic editors of both the Review and the Brown and White, the circulation manager of Brown and White, and athletes engaged in freshman and varsity football, varsity track, freshman swimming, and varsity basketball. Men from Beta Kappa are to be found in Pi Delta Epsilon, Scabbard and Blade, the debating club, Alpha Phi Omega, the Sportsmen's Club, and the Camera Club.

BETA THETA PI

— — — — the first fraternity to originate west of the Alleghenies, was founded at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio. The fraternity has increased until there are now over 80 active chapters. The Beta Chi Chapter was organized at Lehigh in 1891. Petition for admission to the national society was made in 1889, but the charter was not granted until two years later. After living in three different houses in town, Beta Theta Pi moved to a campus house finished in 1926.

Extra-curricular activities are one of the major assets of the Betas, and, in athletics, they are especially strong. Harold Masem, 1939 Intercollegiate Wrestling Champion, Dick Brenneman, and Joe Quinn are on the varsity wrestling team while other men have made letters in track, football, and swimming. The manager of the 1940 football team is also a Beta. Members of Beta Theta Pi are in such honorary societies as Cyanide, Omicron Delta Kappa, Scabbard and Blade, Newtonian Society, and the Brown Key Society. The Brown and White and Lehigh Review have Betas on their editorial and business staffs.

CHI PHI

— — — — traces its origin to Bavaria in the 13th century where groups of scholars and clergy who were being oppressed banded together for protection under that name. Traces of these groups in England and America in the 17th century have also been found. A constitution was drawn up in 1824 at what is now Princeton University and in 1872 three different societies at Princeton, Hobart, and North Carolina, all called Chi Phi, joined together to form an entity.

Early in the history of Lehigh, a similar group of fellows formed the Calumet Club which believed in those same principles of brotherhood. In 1872 this club became the Psi Chapter of Chi Phi, the first fraternity in the university. Since that time Chi Phis have become prominent campus leaders and now number among their members Walter Russell who is president of the Interfraternity Council, co-captain of the soccer team, and a member of O. D. K., and Warren Leonard, assistant business manager of the Epitome. The house is strong scholastically too, having attained the highest average of the campus fraternities during the second semester of 1958-'59.

CHI PSI

— — — — was founded at Union College in 1841. It has grown conservatively to its present size of 25 chapters through the aid of an unusually strong national office. The policy of maintaining a visitor to all the chapters and of printing a quarterly magazine for every member has kept Chi Psi a very united group. Alpha Beta Delta was founded at Lehigh in 1894. In 1916 this chapter moved into its new lodge in Sayre Park where it has prospered ever since.

Chi Psis were very active on Lehigh's campus this year. The president and treasurer of Omicron Delta Kappa, the business manager of the Brown and White, officers in Pi Tau Sigma, Pi Delta Epsilon, Mustard and Cheese, and the Aero Club, and members of Cyanide, Tau Beta Pi, Pi Mu Epsilon, the Glee Club, Arcadia, and the Newtonian Society are Chi Psis. The staffs of the Brown and White, Epitome, and Review have Chi Psi representatives. In the athletic field, a Chi Psi is captain of the golf team, and others hold managerships in hockey, swimming, soccer, and golf. Lettermen in a large number of the major and minor sports are members of the fraternity.

DELTA PHI

— — — — third oldest of American social fraternities, was founded as one of the original Union Triad at Union College in 1827 by a group of nine students dissatisfied with existing opportunities for dignified and elevated social life. Throughout its growth Delta Phi has been conservative in establishing chapters, confining itself largely to representation in eastern universities and colleges.

The Nu Chapter of Delta Phi, Lehigh's fourth fraternity, was established in 1884 by six men who believed their group would benefit through affiliation with the national organization. The fraternity is now established in the house on Warren Square which the chapter occupied in 1920.

Though never deficient in scholarship, Delta Phi at Lehigh has always been active in extra-curricular activities. Delta Phis have played important roles in the Mustard and Cheese, Sportsmen's Club, and the Symphony Orchestra. Many of the brothers have competed for various sports, two Delta Phis holding positions on the varsity soccer team.

DELTA SIGMA PHI

— — — — was originally founded December 10, 1899, at the College of the City of New York. In 1905 the fraternity was incorporated into a national organization with "the fulfillment of the desire of serious young college men for fellowship and brotherhood" as its purpose. Today the fraternity numbers more than 50 chapters throughout the United States and Canada.

The local Beta Theta Chapter began its existence as a society of senior engineers called Sigma Iota. The growth of the society led to a change of name to the Phi Delta Phi Society and to the petitioning to Delta Phi for admission. The charter was granted in 1931, and the present house located at the corner of Packer Avenue and Adams Street was secured in 1937.

Outstanding among the members of the Delta Sigma Phi house is Alfred T. Cox, president of the senior class, captain of the football team, and co-captain of the baseball team, as well as a member of many honorary societies. Ralph E. Martin is the band leader and manager of the track team, while another Delta Sigma Phi, Warren E. Sawyer, is the president of the Hockey Club.

DELTA TAU DELTA

— — — — was founded at Bethany College in 1858, but the final adoption of a motto, badge, and constitution did not occur until 1859. Beta Lambda Chapter was founded at Lehigh University in 1874. The house occupied two residences in town until 1914 when it moved into its present home which is the second fraternity house to have been built on the Lehigh campus.

Delta Tau Delta, since its beginning at Lehigh, has been a leader in extra-curricular activities. The house has had men in all the honorary societies and clubs, and, at the present time, Delts are members of most of these organizations. The number of men in Cyanide and O.D.K. speaks well of the house activities. In football, basketball, baseball, track, and cross country Delts have received letters. In intra-mural sports, especially in bowling, the Delts have been very successful. Delta Tau Delta has men in two of the three university publications and most of these men are members of Pi Delta Epsilon, national honorary journalism society.

DELTA UPSILON

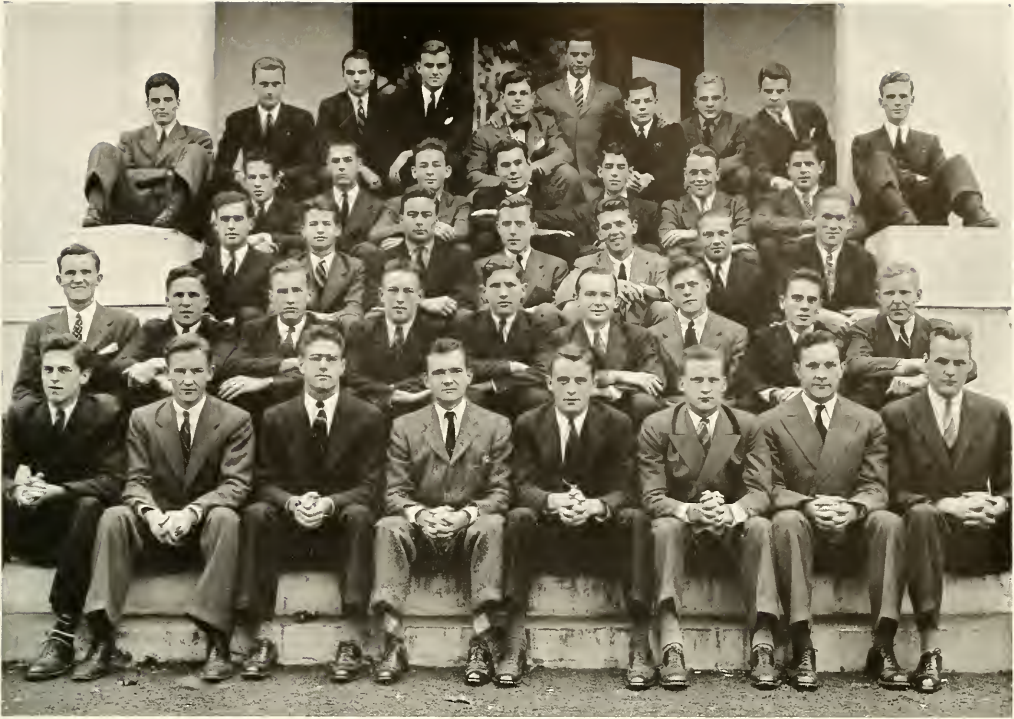

— — — — the only non-secret national fraternity, originated from an anti-secret society known as the Social Fraternity founded at Williams College in 1854. The Lehigh Chapter was installed by Charles Evans Hughes, Brown '81, in 1885. The present home of the Delta Us was the first fraternity house to be built on the Lehigh campus.

Delta Upsilon's keen interest in a wide range of activities has won for the group the slogan "Delta Upsilon in everything and every D. U. in something". Among the D. U.'s this year are lettermen in football, basketball, baseball, swimming, track and cross country; varsity managers of baseball, cross country and soccer; and freshmen who have won numerals in six sports.

The chapter has members in O.D.K., Tau Beta Pi, Pi Delta Epsilon, Cyanide, Arcadia, and the Newtonian Society. Nine brothers are on the Brown and White staff, including advertising and editorial managers; and seven, including the Editor-in-Chief, are on the Epitome staff. Other activities include Tone, Musical Clubs, Alpha Phi Omega, Brown Key, and Student Concert-Lecture Series.

KAPPA ALPHA

— — — — the first secret brotherhood to originate at an American college, was founded at Union in 1825 by nine students who desired an organization to promote mutual friendship and brotherhood. Despite the opposition which it faced at first, the fraternity materialized rapidly under the efforts of its founders and newly acquired members.

In 1895 three Lehigh students petitioned for a charter for their organization which was to become the Alpha Chapter of Pennsylvania of the Kappa Alpha Society. As the group continued to increase in size and prominence, the fraternity moved, in 1922, from its original house on Cherokee Street to its present location on Seneca Street.

Active in every phase of college life, K.A.'s hold such positions as president of Scabbard and Blade, business manager of the Epitome, and head and junior cheerleaders. Other activities include Mustard and Cheese, Pi Delta Epsilon, and Lehigh Review. In athletics, Kappa Alpha claims members of the swimming, lacrosse, tennis, and freshman and junior varsity football teams.

KAPPA SIGMA

— — — — was founded at the University of Virginia on December 10, 1869 by five men now known as the "five friends and brothers." Expansion of the fraternity followed until it is now one of the largest national organizations, having over 100 chapters in the United States. The various chapters are grouped into 21 districts with a district grandmaster at the head of each one. The alumni of the fraternity have organized chapters in all of the principal cities.

In 1900 a group of 11 Lehigh undergraduates petitioned for entrance into Kappa Sigma. They were accepted, and the group was installed November 19th of the same year as the Beta Iota Chapter at a conclave of the national fraternity. The chapter was first located on Delaware Avenue, and in 1926 they moved to their present home which is located at 24 East Church Street.

Kappa Sigma has taken an active part in college activities during the past year especially in intra-mural sports. Jack McQuillan, vice-president of the Interfraternity Council, and president of the M. E. Society, and officers of three other course societies are members of the house.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA

— — — — was founded at Boston University, November 2, 1909. While the fraternity was organized with a view to national expansion, no attempt to establish new chapters, called Zetas, was made until the spring of 1912. At the present time, there are more than 90 chapters. Gamma Psi Zeta, the name of the local chapter of Lambda Chi Alpha, was founded at Lehigh in 1922 as a fraternity known as Delta Theta. In 1925, Delta Theta was given permission to enter their formal petition which was granted one year later in 1926. Thirty members were initiated into Lambda Chi Alpha in November 1926 in the old house on Montclair Avenue. The first house was located on Packer Avenue, while the present house is at 515 Delaware Avenue.

The members of Lambda Chi Alpha have played an important part in student activities. Dick Jeffery is treasurer of the Interfraternity Council for the current year, and Alfred Bodine was appointed chairman of the Senior Class Banquet. In sports Joe Kaszycki and John Hunt played football, while Norm Barber and Ed Archbold followed basketball. Fred Kornet was manager of swimming.

PHI DELTA THETA

— — — — founded at Miami University in 1848, became one of the justly famous Miami Triad. Although hindered in its early development by anti-fraternity regulations, Phi Delta Theta has grown steadily until it is now represented by 107 chapters throughout the United States and Canada, constituting the fourth largest fraternity in the country.

In 1887 ten Lehigh students founded the Pennsylvania Eta chapter at this university. Since that time the chapter has occupied three houses; its present membership of 29 now live in the chapter house built on the campus by the alumni in 1917.

The members of Phi Delta Theta have become prominent on the Lehigh campus through their interest in both honorary and athletic activities. Brothers have recently been elected to Pi Tau Sigma and Alpha Kappa Psi; the fraternity is represented in Cyanide and Scabbard and Blade; and one member is the editor of the freshman handbook. Phi Deltas are on the football, basketball, and baseball teams; the house holds the inter-fraternity football championship.

PHI GAMMA DELTA

— — — — was founded at the old Jefferson College in 1848. There have been established 75 undergraduate chapters, 110 graduate groups, and clubs in New York and Detroit which provide gathering places for over 27,000 living brothers. Beta Chi of Phi Gamma Delta was begun at Lehigh University in December 1885 when the charter members were initiated in the old Sun Inn. Chapter houses were in town until the present campus house was built in 1922.

Beta Chi has always been active in student activities. "Fijis" are to be found in almost every major sport: Hauserman, Smoke, Simpson, and Leschen, in football, Cliff Lincoln in soccer, Harvey Griffith, captain of fencing, Doug Paul in wrestling and lacrosse, Harry Leidich in baseball, and representation in golf, basketball, tennis, and track. In the honorary societies, Bill Simpson is president of Cyanide, Dave Ginder is in Omicron Delta Kappa, Terry Schiff is in Scabbard and Blade, and "Fijis" are in the Newtonian Society, Phi Eta Sigma, and many course societies. Doug Paul is senior class secretary-treasurer.

PHI SIGMA KAPPA

— — — — was founded at the Massachusetts Agricultural College in Amherst, Massachusetts on March 15, 1875. The fraternity became national in 1888 with the establishment of a chapter at the Albany Medical College, but this chapter was later moved to Union College. From this beginning Phi Sigma Kappa has developed to 46 houses and has taken a prominent place among the important national fraternities.

The Mu Chapter was founded at Lehigh in 1901 when the first chapter house was located at 511 Seneca Street. After this the fraternity moved several times and today is situated at 406 Delaware Avenue.

The Phi Sigs have been increasingly active during the past year. Gus Riomondy has won letters in soccer and track; he is a member of Cyanide and the secretary-treasurer of the junior class. Paul Duyckinck, Bill Danshaw, and "Beef" Rodgers are varsity football lettermen and Gordon Loveland is the manager of the freshman team. Several Phi Sigs are regulars on the lacrosse team.

PI KAPPA ALPHA

— — — — was originally founded at the University of Virginia in 1868. Upon the second founding at the 1869 convention, there started a rapid increase in size, until today there are 79 chapters scattered over the country.

The chapter at Lehigh was begun in 1929 as a result of the formation of the Lehigh Seal Club, made up of students dissatisfied with living in the dormitories. Gamma Lambda, the local chapter, was the first Lehigh fraternity to institute a deferred rushing plan.

Pi Kappa Alpha is represented in a majority of the campus activities. Howard Conner is editor-in-chief of the Brown and White, president of Pi Delta Epsilon, and vice-president of the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association. Pi K A is represented in Alpha Phi Omega by four men. Last year Pi Kappa Alpha won its touch football League "E" championship. It won the Living Group Singing Cup awarded for the first time to the best vocal chorus among the university groups. In athletics Pi K A's are found on the swimming, cross-country, track, and rifle teams.

PI LAMBDA PHI

— — — — a non-sectarian fraternity, was founded at Yale University in 1895 by Henry M. Fisher, Louis F. Levy, and Frederick M. Werner. In 1909 a group of students formed the Pioneer Club of Bethlehem. The ideals of these Lehigh students were very similar to those of Pi Lambda Phi, and in 1915 the Pioneer Club became the Lambda Chapter of Pi Lambda Phi Fraternity. This chapter has progressed far since 1915, and at present has 27 members.

Pi Lambda Phi has won the Phi Sigma Kappa Interfraternity Scholarship Cup three times in succession and now has permanent possession of it. Last year it had the highest scholarship ranking among the fraternities for both semesters and won the Phi Eta Sigma Freshman Scholarship Cup.

This year Les Rosenfeld, president of the fraternity, and Stan Grossman made their letters in varsity football. Pi Lam was also represented in fencing and other intercollegiate sports. The brothers were active on the Brown and White, in Mustard and Cheese, and in several others of the various campus activities.

PSI UPSILON

— — — — was founded in November 1835 at Union College by seven undergraduates who wanted to form a broader and more liberal fraternal organization than those in existence. Throughout its more than one hundred years of growth, the fraternity has lost only two of its 29 chapters and these were at Yale and Harvard, where university conditions made it impossible for active fraternity existence. In 1920 the membership of the fraternity in the United States was limited, but since then three chapters have been established in Canada.

In 1880 the Eta Chapter of Phi Delta Psi, due to the interest of two Lehigh faculty members of Psi Upsilon, applied for admission to that fraternity. Their petition was granted, and in February, 1884, they were installed as the Eta Chapter of Psi Upsilon. Originally located on Market Street, the chapter moved to Brodhead Avenue in 1909. This year the fraternity is particularly well represented in sports, having 15 members either on or competing for positions on various teams. George Woelfel won his letter in swimming last year while Ward Detwiler won his in soccer.

SIGMA ALPHA MU

— — — — began its existence at the City College of New York, where the first group of members formed the Alpha Chapter of this fraternity. Since then, this organization with its basic principle "to foster and maintain among its sons a spirit of loyalty and devotion for Alma Mater" has spread over the country, and 35 chapters in all have been formed.

A local Lehigh fraternity known as Eta Alpha Mu was installed as the Sigma Kappa Chapter of Sigma Alpha Mu in the spring of 1925.

Many university activities have been well supported by Sigma Alpha Mu. In Mustard and Cheese there are four active members. Norman Hammer and Nathaniel Brisker hold offices in the organization and three of the members took prominent parts in the production, "Dead End." Sigma Alpha Mu has maintained a reputation in athletics. Marvin Kantrowitz holds the Middle Atlantic Championship in tennis, three men are members of the swimming team, two men are on the football squad, and two others play hockey. Fencing, basketball, soccer, and baseball all have "Sig Alphas" on the teams.

SIGMA CHI

— — — — was founded on June 28, 1855 at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio where it became a member of the original Miami Triad. With many of the southern universities closed during the Civil war, the Constantine chapter was formed to assure the Sigma Chi's continuance in the South.

In 1887 seven Lehigh students who had formed the Crimson Halberd Society, petitioned Sigma Chi for admittance to the fraternity and were immediately accepted. The Alpha Rho Chapter was disbanded in 1890 but was reinstated in 1895, and in 1904 the fraternity moved into its present location at 240 East Broad Street.

The activities of the Lehigh Sigma Chis have followed a well rounded pattern, with members participating in a wide variety of sports and organizations. The fraternity is represented in Mustard and Cheese, Sportsmen's Club, Pi Delta Epsilon, Lehigh Review, and Brown and White. Sigma Chi claims members of the football, baseball and fencing teams, and one cheerleader. In interfraternity sports, Sigma Chi has won championships in basketball, football, and baseball.

SIGMA NU

— — — — began as a secret society, the Legion of Honor, which was organized in 1868 at the Virginia Military Institute, Lexington, Virginia. The fraternity began its expansion in the south, but in 1885 it spread to the east with the inception of the Pi Chapter at Lehigh. Originally situated on High Street, the chapter moved to its present house on the campus, which was built through alumni and university cooperation, in 1915.

At Lehigh, Sigma Nu has shown great stability since its beginning and today boasts representation in almost all campus activities. Included among the lettermen of the house are members of the soccer, swimming, football, and baseball teams and the captain of the track team. Members of the Brown and White board, the news manager of that paper, and a junior editor of the Epitome are Sigma Nus. Representatives of the house are found in many honorary societies including Tau Beta Pi, Omicron Delta Kappa, Cyanide, Scabbard and Blade, Pi Tau Sigma, Phi Eta Sigma, and Pi Delta Epsilon.

SIGMA PHI

— — — — the second oldest college fraternity, was founded in 1827 at Union College, Schenectady, New York. It is a national organization limited to ten chapters. Lehigh's Alpha Chapter of Pennsylvania was founded in 1887. Just one year later, the fraternity completed the construction of its own house, the first at Lehigh. This was located on Delaware Avenue and is still being used by the active members after its remodeling.

Alpha of Sigma Phi has a record that is praiseworthy. Scholastically, Sigma Phi ranks second among the fraternity living groups. In extra-curricular activities, brothers are found in Scabbard and Blade, Pi Delta Epsilon, Omicron Delta Kappa, Newtonian Society, Mustard and Cheese, and on the Review staff. The secretary-treasurer of the sophomore class is a Sigma Phi man. In athletics, the brothers can be seen taking their tumbles on the wrestling mat and also making their bids for varsity positions in tennis, track, and rifle competitions, and freshman positions in cross-country and football. This grand old fraternity is staying near the top.

SIGMA PHI EPSILON

— — — — one of the nation's ten largest national fraternities, was established at the University of Richmond in 1901. Since the parent chapter initiated several theological students and adopted a heart shaped pin, the members for a time were known as the "Sacred Hearts."

In 1907 sixteen members of a local Lehigh fraternity known as Omega Pi Alpha obtained a charter from the national organization and became the Pennsylvania Epsilon Chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon. The present home of the fraternity is located on West Market Street and has been enlarged recently by additions to the dining room and dormitory.

The activities of the fraternity include the entire extent of campus extra-curricular activities. S. P. E. members are in Cyanide, Phi Eta Sigma, the Newtonian Society, and "Sig Eps" hold offices in the R. W. Hall Society and Alpha Epsilon Delta. The fraternity is represented in all three of the campus publications, Epitome, Brown and White, and Review. Ever active in athletics, S. P. E. claims the co-captain of soccer, and members of the wrestling and cross-country teams.

TAU DELTA PHI

— — — — was founded at the City College of New York in 1910 where it was intended to be a local organization. However, in 1914 a chapter was established at New York University, and, in 1916, the two chapters decided to adopt a policy of cautious expansion. At the present there are 20 active chapters of Tau Delta Phi throughout the United States.

Tau Chapter was organized at Lehigh in 1926 by a group of ambitious young men who wanted to form an exclusive fraternity with a limited number of men. This policy of limited membership is still in effect in Tau Chapter.

Tau Delta Phi is represented in many of the campus activities. There have been men in Scabbard and Blade, Omicron Delta Kappa, Tau Beta Pi, and Phi Beta Kappa. Tau Deltas are active in the university publications and have won letters on the various athletic teams. One of the members of the cheerleading squad is a Tau Delt. Each year, Tau Delta Phi stands near the top scholastically and last year the house won the Phi Sigma Kappa Cup for scholastic honors.

THETA DELTA CHI

— — — — was founded in 1847 at Union College in Schenectady, New York. It was the 12th national fraternity to be founded and, since its foundation, has been one of the leaders in the fraternity world. It was the first fraternity to organize a national magazine and was the creator of the fraternity flag. Its greatest claim to fame, however, is its building of the first centralized fraternity government. This was the grand lodge form of government which is now universally used by nearly all national fraternities. A conservative policy and a desire to promote friendship has limited the number of chapters in the United States and Canada to 28.

Nu Deuteron Charge of Theta Delta Chi was founded by six undergraduates at Lehigh in 1884 to become the fifth national fraternity on the campus. The present chapter house located in Sayre Park was built in 1919, and new additions were presented by alumni in 1958. Theta Delta Chi has always been very active in all fields of extracurricular activities, including athletics, honorary societies, and publications, being especially well-known in intra-mural debating circles.

THETA KAPPA PHI

— — — — had its beginning in 1916 when a congenial group of Lehigh students desired to perpetuate a lasting bond among themselves through the organization of a fraternity. Although the World War cut short the group's activities, its members returned to found the fraternity under the present name on October 1, 1919. It was incorporated with a similar local fraternity at Penn State College in 1922.

Since then a cautious policy of expansion has been pursued by the fraternity, and at present there are fifteen chapters in the East, Middle West, and South. Following the desires of its founders, Theta Kappa Phi has above all tried to promote harmony, unity, and genuine fraternity.

The fraternity has been continually active in athletics, its members being on the football, baseball, wrestling, track, and soccer teams. In the honorary societies, brothers are active in Tau Beta Pi, Alpha Kappa Psi, Scabbard and Blade, and Eta Kappa Nu; while some participate in the Brown and White, the Lehigh Review, Mustard and Cheese, and the Band.

THETA XI

— — — — was founded at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in April, 1864. Originally known as the Sigma Delta Fraternity, a split occurred and eight of the dissenters founded a new society called Theta Xi which now has 36 active chapters. The Eta Chapter was founded at Lehigh in December 1905, when 14 charter members were initiated. Last year, in addition to celebrating the 75th anniversary of the fraternity, the chapter also celebrated the 55th anniversary of the founding of the Eta Chapter.

Theta Xi members won several scholastic honors, and the house average of 2.001 moved the chapter's scholastic rank from 26th to 11th place among the fraternities. However, the scholastic activities did not overshadow the extra-curricular achievements. In sports, members appeared both as managers and participants on many varsity and freshman teams. Great success was enjoyed in intramural boxing. In the honorary societies, Theta Xi has representatives in Tau Beta Pi, Pi Tau Sigma, and other national and local groups.

The Town Council was organized in February 1939, to promote the interests of the town group. It has been able, by dividing the city into 11 sections, to initiate a successful intramural sports program, which has meant greater athletic opportunity for many town men. The members are John P. Brandt, George A. Brenker, Robert P. Carter, William R. Csellak, George J. Gabuzda, Paul A. Hunter, Theodore L. Leining, Norman L. Morse, Albert E. Ponter, Thomas E. Ricketts, Kenneth R. Templeton, and Charles A. Wolbach.

LEHIGH DORMITORIES

Taylor House, Lehigh's first dormitory, was donated to the University in 1907 by Andrew Carnegie. Mr. Carnegie insisted before he made the donation that the new building be named for his friend and associate, Charles Taylor, a graduate, trustee, and long time friend of Lehigh. Charles Taylor accepted the gift in order to fulfill the urgent need for better student living facilities on the campus. Taylor Hall, as it was then known, is unique in that it was one of the first large all concrete buildings to be erected in this section of the country, but it has withstood the ravages of time and today remains as a fitting memorial to its two founders.

In 1922 Dr. Charles Russ Richards came to Lehigh as her fourth president. Always full of hopes and ideals for a "Greater Lehigh," Dr. Richards made many contributions to the University, not the least of which was a plan to foster dormitory expansion and building. The new system of which Richards House and Drinker House are the modern standing tributes was part of this plan, but for lack of funds the realization of these hopes was left to his successor, President Williams.

Richards House, standing on the hill below the Lookout, was started in 1937 and opened for student occupation in 1938. Drinker House today is still a skeleton framework, but the latest addition to the new dormitory group will be completed in the very near future.

Dormitory men at Lehigh have proved themselves worthy of the University's interest. The various houses have been organized into sections and the Interdormitory Council has been formed to act as a governing body for these men. The main purpose of this group is to develop a more cohesive and cooperative relationship among dormitory men. In attaining this end the Council has met admirable success during its two short years of life. It can point with pride to the large number of social and intramural functions it has sponsored and to the ever growing list of campus leaders among its members.

Still one more addition was needed to make living condition improvements all inclusive. Lehigh has many foreign students and these under the leadership of George Tabet founded the Cosmopolitan Club in 1938. This year the club has its own house. It is a necessary addition to Lehigh campus life and was started in the same spirit of betterment that has marked the steady rise of all the other living groups.

Dorm life carries the advantages and disadvantages of impersonality, the joys and sorrows of almost perfect freedom. We live as we please, we study when we feel like it (which must happen sometimes, since dorm averages are always above the University's), and we throw the bull far into the night, as shown by the pictures on the right which well personify dormitory life. Bull sessions like the one in the Richards House room occur frequently and give students a chance to think and voice opinions in a group. They are a custom of university life and Lehigh is no exception.

In their spare time, dorm men are found shining shoes and clipping nails—just before house party perhaps. Ping-pong has caught the fancy of several students, and speedy games like the one in progress when the picture was snapped are constantly being played in the dormitory game room.

Often on Sunday afternoons girls from town walk up the mountain—for the air! Could it be that the fellows in the window are whistling? An occasional soda in the Drown Hall cafeteria is often a preliminary to a long session of cramming back at the dorm, but you can see it's not all studying!

ACTIVITIES

The Officers

The controlling organization of the student body needs a redressing so the officers (Fred Galbraith, president, Al Cox, his vice-president, Thomas Ricketts, and Richard Kelley, the treasurer), gather to determine the policies of Arcadia. Already they are talking of changing the class elections to eliminate some more of the politics.

ARCADIA

Arcadia of Lehigh University, student governing body, represents in its present state the final development of undergraduate control at Lehigh. The original Arcadia founded in the 80's by Richard Harding Davis as a society opposing Greek Letter fraternities became in turn a political group, a proctor group, an honor society, and finally the official governing body.

The growth and increase in power of the Lehigh Union soon relegated Arcadia to a position of little importance. In the spring of 1938 Arcadia was merged with the Lehigh Union. The new body received the name Arcadia as a result of popular vote. Having approximately the form of the original Lehigh Union, the body was reorganized as regards membership in the spring of 1939. This reorganization was made possible by the completion of the system whereby all men were represented in the three living group councils. The members at the present time are not delegates from their organizations but are campus leaders selected for the most part ex officio. The officers and members during the past year together with their outside offices are: Fred E. Galbraith, Jr., president, and representative chosen by Pi Delta Epsilon; Alfred T. Cox, vice-president, and president of the senior class; Thomas E. Ricketts, secretary, and student member at large; Richard C. Kelly, Jr., treasurer, and president of the Combined Musical Clubs; Claude G. Beardslee, faculty adviser; Wallace P. Watkins, the president of Omicron Delta Kappa; Albert E. Lee, Jr., president of the junior class; Robert N. Gusdorff, president of the sophomore class; Walter S. Russell, president of the Interfraternity Council; Norman L. Morse, president of the Town Council; Carl R. Fittkau, president of the Interdormitory Council; William B. Simpson, president of Cyanide; and Frank C. Woodside, Jr., president of Mustard and Cheese.

The present set-up for student government at Lehigh thus consists of a council for each of the three living groups. All of the councils are represented in Arcadia, the body which has final authority over undergraduate activities.

The duties of Arcadia include the organization of Freshman Week activities, football smokers and pep rallies, and the traditional Flag Pole Day. In addition, money from the student activities fee is used to support student groups, organizations and teams which would otherwise be unable to function. Among its other activities are included the operation of the Campus Community Chest, which was organized this year for making contributions to local charities, supervision of the yearly elections, publication of the Freshman Handbook, and the appointment of student members to various university committees.

Dr. Beardslee is the mainstay of Arcadia. This is so firmly established that his telephone is answered, "Arcadia Office", rather than the usual "Hello".

The Band

RIGHT: The drum major is prepared.

The Lehigh University Band was founded thirty-two years ago but did not become important until 1926. That year there was a major change. Dr. T. Edgar Shields, the faculty director, obtained the music, instruments, and uniforms of the disbanded Bethlehem Steel Band. With this new equipment the band began a steady climb until it has now reached a total membership of approximately 150 men.

In the past few years the band has improved rapidly and is now in a class with the largest bands of the eastern universities. It ranks near the top of the college bands in the East. The developments which have aided its progress include the use of intricate marching formations and the introduction of popular music.

The band will always be remembered by the students for its performances at the football games on house party weekends. Here, before the house party crowds, it invariably produces its best formations and arrangements.

Among other things for which the band is noted are playing at basketball games and concerts and becoming an integral part of the Lehigh R. O. T. C. unit.

THE EPITOME

The Epitome, the yearbook of Lehigh, appears for a short time on the campus only to be sent to the library there to keep penned up within itself a record of that school year. The purpose of the book is to preserve for the members of the class the events that will lead to reminiscences of the times in college. For this reason the book is as complete as the covers will permit. It contains as many pictures as are appropriate and reading matter to complete the details so necessary to a full recollection. These stories may be the type that one can read purely for enjoyment, but in truth they were written to contain facts with little other interest. This year the Epitome presents a history of Lehigh's 75 years to heighten this interest. Many different students write these stories, and as such the book is a composite of ideas gleaned from many different sources. In other words, unless a theme is clearly carried through, the book becomes terribly jumbled.

The art editor, George Lennox, and the senior section chief, Wallace Watkins, listen to the advice of their historian, K. K. Kost.

The editor fights it out with a knotty problem.

The business manager wonders if it will be solved.

"Looking into the Future" is a phrase that is used without thinking of its real meaning. To be philosophical it is the aim of every student while here at Lehigh to learn the essentials that will enable him to carry on for himself later in life. We learn every day and think nothing of it. All our plans are based upon the future and what the morrow will bring, some action may alter our whole life, but still we look only upon the silver lining of that cloud in the sky. When we came here four years ago, our ambition was to be graduated from this university a wiser man, having passed in mid-air the fellow who was not quite so lucky as we. As the years passed we studied diligently with that burning desire of finally walking down the aisle with a diploma in our hand. Although the theme of the 1940 Epitome is "Looking into the Future", still the real thought is that with the correct attitude we can be spurred on to higher and higher achievements as our goal. Thus with this issue we are trying to show to the seniors the road ahead and make it as pleasant as possible so that they may be disillusioned a little while longer. Sail on!

Brown and White

The Brown and White has maintained during the 46th year of its existence its policy of presenting "All the Lehigh News—First." Originating on January 16, 1894 as an issue only four columns wide and 18 inches high, the paper has risen to its present size with an occasional six or eight page "special issue."

Although associated with the journalism department of the University, it is managed and edited entirely by the students. The editorial columns of the Brown and White have been organized with student interests uppermost in the minds of the editors. As a result they have been influential in bringing about improvements for the university and the student body.

The Brown and White is strictly a newspaper of the students, being open to anyone who enrolls in the prescribed courses. These courses, as well as affording instruction in newspaper work, give the students ample opportunity to do actual work on the paper. All offices on the paper are filled by practical and written competitive examinations.

During the Brown and White's membership in the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association of the Atlantic States, it has been awarded more cups for supremacy in news, editorials, and advertising than any other member of the Association. It is the only member to have gained permanent possession of any of these cups.

Of the Brown and White it might be said that after 46 years of experimentation and acquiring a journalistic tradition, it has finally emerged known for its progressive editorials, comprehensive news coverage, and ever-expanding pictorial display.

THE REVIEW

The Lehigh Review has seen an editor a year since it was born in May, 1927. The problem child of 1940 certainly would not recognize its Neanderthal ancestor of '27. Everything that was to be changed has been changed. In its relatively short life each editor has contributed something to make his magazine a little livelier, has tried a little harder to satisfy those who never will be satisfied.

We left the dignified and philosophic ramblings of our progenitor to the more capable hands in the faculty. For the heavy diet we substituted a lighter fare of short stories, light features, cartoons, and the inevitable exchange joke. We feel now that the student is more at home in the pages of the new Review. It has become a medium of student expression in almost all fields, from poetry to photography and back again.

Not the least of the Review's efforts to wear modern clothes is its unhesitating effort to keep barking at the heels of education in its herd-like movement. And if our barking is only a pitifully small part of the drive that is required, we can gain some satisfaction from the fact that we have been both censored and censured. We have been accused of being complainers, never satisfied. We feel that's all right too, because we'd still be paying taxes to the King of England if somebody hadn't started to complain about it.

The Lehigh Review is certainly unique in one respect. It is absolutely the only magazine of its kind in the country. There is no other campus publication that so resolutely tries to combine the literary forms of the short story and the essay with that singular instrument known as college humor. We have been trying that almost non-miscible mixture for a number of years, with varying degrees of success. Experience has shown that when the humorous side is predominant the magazine climbs in popularity. Each editor of the Review has to decide for himself how much humor is necessary to carry the burden of the more serious side of the magazine's personality.

But we have all felt that the Review would drop its banner if it denied its task of making the real become beautiful and the beautiful become real. The Review has a monopoly on almost every communal form of student self-expression, and feels the responsibility of that monopoly. So long as we are in that position, the pages of the Review will remain open to all serious attempts of the student.

Although the Review boasts of its contributions to the students, it can be prouder still of its service to the men who work for it. For the Review is run wholly by the students. There are no faculty advisers and we bear full responsibility for all material that appears in the Review plus full responsibility to see that the Review remains a paying proposition. It is the sort of training usually found outside of colleges and not inside. Although the staff is concerned mostly with problems that are rather petty, they get a taste of rough reality that helps a long way when we are so surrounded.

The Combined Musical Clubs

The Combined Musical Clubs consist of a Glee Club, a Dance Orchestra, a Double Quartet, and a Symphony Orchestra. The organization developed from the old Chapel Choir and the later organized Glee Club and Mandolin Society. Each semester the three units combine their efforts to give a home concert and dance. In the spring home concert, the Lehigh organization usually gives a combined program with one or more of the other schools in the vicinity—Moravian College for Women, Cedar Crest College, and Lafayette College. Last year all four schools participated. This year the major out-of-town concert by the combined group was given at Beaver College in Jenkintown. The Glee Club gave several other concerts and broadcasts over the major radio networks.

The Dance Orchestra played every Saturday evening during the second semester. The Symphony Orchestra gave several concerts during the year and was represented on the programs of the combined clubs by an ensemble.

BOARD OF PUBLICATIONS

An Epitome editor fell in love, and his business manager flunked out of school; so, in the early twenties, one edition of the Epitome had a deficit of nearly $5,000. Irked by this insolvency, C. Max McConn, then dean, started the move which led to the establishment of the Board of Publications.

The Board is composed of the dean, the head of the courses in journalism, one other faculty member, and three student members selected by Arcadia. The Board, therefore, has power to act for the administration, faculty, and the student governing body.

Though founded primarily to assure solvency to student publications, the board has added duties and functions. Today, it elects the major officers of the Epitome and the Brown and White, passes upon the validity of all publication elections, approves contracts, orders audits, and serves as a court of appeal to which all publication problems are referred.

STUDENT CONCERT LECTURE SERIES

The Student Concert Lecture Series was instituted in the 1956-57 school year as the result of a petition of a committee from Tau Beta Pi which was headed by Bernard Weiss. Its purpose is to provide a source of cultural entertainment for the students of Lehigh. Every student is assessed for the funds on which the series is run.

The artists are selected and bookings are arranged during the preceding school year by a committee of six students and five faculty members.

Selections are based on student interests as were evidenced by a poll taken in 1958 and by attendance figures. The 1959-40 series consisted of four excellent programs which included monologues by Cornelia Otis Skinner, a debate between Hamilton Fish and Upton Close, Argentina and her dance group, and a lecture by William Lyons Phelps.

The student committee members are chosen from the Junior class by the Senior members.

SPORTSMAN'S CLUB

The Sportsman's Club of Lehigh, a recent addition to the University, was started in October 1938. A group of students interested in outdoor sports combined with the old Outing Club for the purpose of furthering those sports which are generally neglected by a college. The club met with success among students and faculty.

The Sportsman's Club is one of the most active groups in the University with its numerous activities: trap and target shooting, hunting, fishing, hiking, camping, archery, skating, sleighing, skiing, and conservation work. Seven deer were caught at one of its camping and hunting trips in the Poconos. A barn dance sponsored by the organization proved so successful that it promises to become a semi-annual affair.

MUSTARD AND CHEESE

Mustard and Cheese, the University dramatic club, was founded in 1885 by Richard Harding Davis. Some students met in the parlor of Charlie Rennig's saloon and ate cheese sandwiches spread with mustard. The dramatic club was so formed and their bill of fare was used for its name.

Recently Albert A. Rights created the Dramatic Workshop to train the aspiring undergraduates in staging, acting, directing, and writing.

In the Fall the club presented the famous stage and screen hit, "Dead End." Particularly outstanding in the cast were the two veterans, Nathaniel Brisker as Baby Face Martin and R. Harry Gunnison as "Spit."

In the Spring the Dramatic Workshop presented "Our Town" with Robert Gusdorff and Richard J. Berg in the lead roles. The final play of the year was Robert Sherwood's "Idiots Delight" with Nathaniel Brisker and Rita Schafer in the leading parts.

RIFLE CLUB

Paced by Dave Smith, a leading candidate for the mythical All-American Rifle Team, the Lehigh rifle team concluded its most successful season in these 11 years. The team's sole defeat came at the hands of the U. S. Naval Academy, 1939 champions, in a hotly contested match. One highlight of the season was trouncing the University of Maryland who were in third place last year.

Excellent support was given to the team by Ed

Uhl, who was selected on the 1939 All-American Second Team. Top honors in the off hand scores go to Ted Scott, who has the knack of coming through in the pinches. At all times, positions were closely contested by the other expert riflemen.

Current scores indicate that the team will take its share of honors in the remaining R. O. T. C. matches and in the N. R. A. Intercollegiate match.

DE MOLAY CLUB

The DeMolay Club was founded in the fall of 1938 to bring together Lehigh students who were or had been DeMolays. Started primarily as a service organization, it attempts to unite the spirit of college with the working principles of the order. Since its inception, the club has been successful in both endeavors. The restrictive nature of the organization has not hindered its purpose or spirit.

Since the first meeting of this group, there has been a steady and solidly founded increase in membership and activities. Aside from the program of events within the club, there has been organized a team to install the officers of DeMolay chapters in this vicinity. This team has, through its numerous trips to chapters in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, endeavored to spread the name of the school as well as that of the club. That the future of the club will be as successful as its past is the sincere hope of its founding members.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

The Lehigh International Relations Club was formed with the purpose of furthering interest in and promoting the study of international problems and politics among the students of the university. Besides regular monthly meetings, the activities of the club during the year included participation in the International Relations Club convention at New Brunswick, New Jersey, and in the Model League Assembly at Geneva, New York, and sponsoring, along with the Foreign Policy Association, a Round Table of International Affairs at Lehigh.

The regular monthly meetings this year followed a different program from those of past years. At several of the meetings members of the club, instead of the customary outside speakers, presented papers or talks, which were followed by discussion. The year was concluded with the induction of several new members, followed by a banquet.

CIVIL ENGINEERING SOCIETY

The Lehigh University Chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers is an outgrowth of the Civil Engineering Society, which was founded as a local group in 1875. The society was reorganized in 1901 and again in 1922, when it became a student branch of the national society. At present there are 115 chapters, all of which maintain close relations with the senior body.

The object of the society is to bring the students into closer contact with professional engineers and to create interest in civil engineering. This is accomplished by presenting guest speakers at the monthly meetings at which the topic is one of the specialized fields of civil engineering: hydraulics, structures, sanitary engineering, railroads, and highways. For social meetings, the society has an annual Christmas banquet and spring picnic. Last year delegates were sent from the Lehigh Chapter to the national convention of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

CHEMICAL SOCIETY

The Chemical Society, in its early days, was a secret society which elected its members from all departments by a secret ballot. In 1875 the society sent letters to many eminent scientists offering them honorary memberships. Over one hundred acceptances were received many of which were accompanied by photographs. These scientists were from all parts of the United States, and from France, Germany, England, Ireland, Russia, and Switzerland.

In 1875 the society broadened out and changed its name to the Chemical and Natural History Society. It sponsored lectures on scientific subjects and gave financial assistance to three trips to Brazil and Texas. The purpose of these expeditions was to obtain zoological specimens for the society. Many were obtained and it became necessary to store them in the auditorium on the third floor of Packer Hall.

At the next election, one fraternity managed to get control of every office in the society and dissension followed. Here the society dropped into obscurity.

In the same year that the elections were carried out with such disastrous results to the society, the present Chemistry Building was erected. Interest again rose in the society with renewed vigor and out of this interest came the foundation of the present Chemical Society. Today the society is composed of about one-sixth of the student body and at the regular monthly meetings prominent men from various fields in the scientific world are presented to the members of the society. These speakers include industrialists, professors from other universities, and occasionally graduate students in Chemistry from Lehigh.

In lieu of its December meeting, the Chemical Society holds its annual Christmas banquet at the Masonic Temple. There is entertainment by the students and a talk by some man prominent in a non-scientific field. This event is the society's high-light of the year.

The Chemical Society also sponsors the Student Chemistry Foundation Fund, the interest from which is used to maintain a graduate fellowship here at Lehigh in the Chemistry Department. Contributions to this fund consist almost entirely of unused portions of laboratory deposits which are turned over to the fund by the students.

ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING SOCIETY

The American Institute of Electrical Engineers' first student branch was founded at Lehigh University, October 12, 1902, by President Emeritus Charles F. Scott. Thus the Lehigh branch became the first in a movement that has now grown to 120 branches in colleges of all parts of the country.

An open meeting is held each month, with lectures being given by men prominent in the fields of electrical engineering. Many student papers are also presented. These meetings are designed to bring students of electrical engineering closer together, and to give first-hand knowledge of the current problems of the profession. Along with the regular meetings, an annual banquet followed by a party is held which has traditionally been a Christmas party, but the date was changed this year to St. Valentine's.

The branch this year suffered a great loss in the death of Dr. Stanley S. Seyfert, head of the department of electrical engineering. Dr. Seyfert had been an active member of the branch since its founding.

INDUSTRIAL ENGINEERING SOCIETY

The Industrial Engineering Society was founded twelve years ago because a need was felt for an organization with the purpose of improving student relations in the Industrial Engineering curriculum. The result was the creation of the Industrial Engineering Society.

The society strives to attain two goals: to attempt to make available to the students practical industrial material, the knowledge of plant layout, maintenance, production, and general engineering ability; to promote closer relationships among the student classes.

The society fulfills its mission by maintaining a varied program throughout the school year. Meetings are held regularly and speakers prominent in the industrial world give informal lectures to the members of the society. These men give talks dealing with all phases of industry and do not dwell upon the aspect of engineering alone.

The society's program also includes student parties and picnics in the Spring.

MECHANICAL ENGINEERING SOCIETY

The American Society of Mechanical Engineers founded its student branch at Lehigh in 1911. This chapter is one of 117 chapters which are to be found in every important technical school in the United States and Canada. The student branch permits the members to join after graduation the senior society, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. Here they are admitted as junior members.

In keeping with the object of the society to maintain a connection between the practicing engineer and the student, monthly meetings are held when prominent speakers are presented to the students and discussions are held after the speeches are finished. In this way the students become acquainted with prominent men and are kept abreast of the practical advancements of the profession.

In addition to the monthly meetings, other events are sponsored by the society. These are the Christmas party presented by the society in December and the Senior farewell picnic in May.

TAU BETA PI

Tau Beta Pi was founded at Lehigh in 1885 by Professor Edward Williams, then head of the Mining Department at Lehigh. Tau Beta Pi has expanded so that there are now 70 active chapters with a total membership of 52,000 men. The society is now recognized as one of the vital factors in the life of the engineering schools of America.

To be eligible for membership, a junior must be in the upper eighth of his class, a senior in the upper quarter. Eligible men are elected to membership on the basis of the various qualities which are attributed to an ideal engineer.

NEWTONIAN

The Newtonian Society was founded at Lehigh University in 1927 as a freshman honorary mathematical society. Its purposes are to promote interest in mathematics among the members of the Freshman class, to promote friendships among students and faculty members, and to provide opportunity for intellectual activity outside the classroom.

Talks at the monthly meetings are delivered by faculty or club members, and this year included discussions of mathematics as pertaining to determinants, biological growth, astronomy, and the history of mathematics.

PI MU EPSILON

Pi Mu Epsilon, honorary mathematics society, was inaugurated at Lehigh in 1929 when the Lehigh University Mathematics Club was awarded a charter as the Pennsylvania Gamma Chapter. The membership is open to men who have excelled in at least two years of mathematics and have shown an inclination to further study in the field of mathematics. Students from all branches of the University are eligible.

The society aims to supplant the formal instruction in stimulating an interest in the various phases of mathematics. Toward this end, meetings are held each month with a lecture and discussion.

PHI ETA SIGMA

Phi Eta Sigma, national freshman scholastic honorary fraternity, was begun in 1925 at the University of Illinois. Since the Lehigh University Chapter was chartered in 1930, it has followed the twofold program of recognizing freshmen who have made high scholastic achievements and of stimulating scholastic activity on the campus.

Membership is open to students who make a 3.5 average or better either semester of their freshman year.

Among the activities of this year was a meeting open to Freshmen, at which Nelson J. Leonard, '37, Rhodes scholar, told of his experiences at Oxford.

CYANIDE

Cyanide, the junior honorary activities society, has a three-fold purpose at Lehigh: it recognizes those members of the Junior class who have been outstanding in scholarship and extra-curricular activities, it acts as a discussion group on the policies of the University, and it carries out such activities as are deemed advisable by both the faculty and the society.

This year Cyanide took charge of the enforcement of freshman regulations. It sponsored the smoker which preceded the Delaware game, and it supplied guides for the visitors on Sub-Freshman Day.

ETA SIGMA PHI

Eta Sigma Phi, the national honorary classical language society which was formed to promote the study of Greek and Latin in American universities, was founded at the University of Chicago in 1924. Four years later the Alpha Epsilon Chapter of Pennsylvania was founded at Lehigh. This society absorbed the old "Collegium Romanum." The Lehigh chapter, the second formed in Pennsylvania, was one of the first of the forty chapters now in existence.

The first president of the Lehigh chapter was Alvin Lewis, '29. Since that time this chapter has had one national president, and Edwin H. Miller, Arts '40, is the present national treasurer. The national organ of Eta Sigma Phi is the "Nuntius."

SPIKED SHOE SOCIETY

The Spiked Shoe Society was founded at Columbia University in 1925 with the purposes of fostering better track relations among colleges and universities and of forming a closer knit organization of track men in general. It is composed of letter men of track and cross country, who are uniting in the effort to forward the development of track at Lehigh and the other institutions where the society has chapters.

Among the improvements which the society is trying to effect at Lehigh are the construction of a new track and the elimination of various other activities for which the upper field is used during the track season. It was largely through the efforts of this society that the track was repaired last year, and continued efforts of the society have resulted in the adoption of a plan that calls for a major overhaul of the track in the near future.

The society acts in an advisory capacity in determining track policy, training schedules, competitive teams, and special participation.

ROBERT W. BLAKE SOCIETY

The Robert W. Blake Society, which was named in honor of a former head of the College of Arts and Sciences, is Lehigh's honorary philosophical society. Founded in 1925 by seven Lehigh students, the club now has a limited membership of 20 men who have both a high scholastic ability and an interest in philosophical and cultural subjects.

The Mining and Geological Society was organized to give its members an insight into the mining industry and the fields open to geologists and mining engineers. For that purpose, the society resumed this year the practice of holding monthly meetings. At the first two meetings, Dean A. Copeland Callen and Dr. Bradford Willard, the new heads of the two departments, gave introductory talks on their respective fields.

The year's high spot was a talk on meteorites by Dr. H. H. Nininger, director of the American Meteorite Laboratory, before a joint meeting of the E. W. Brown Astronomical Society, the Physics Society, and the Mining and Geological Society.

ATHLETICS

ATHLETIC DEPARTMENTS

After the retirement of Colonel Nelson A. Kellogg in February 1939, the Department of Athletics was broken up into two separate departments: the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics and the Department of Physical Education and Intramural Athletics. Each department has its own director and carries on its program independently of the other.

The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics is directed by Glen W. Harmeson who is also head football coach. Harmeson was the Assistant Director of Athletics until Colonel Kellogg retired and then he was succeeded by Paul Short, who is also Business Manager and Ticket Sales Manager. The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics controls all of the intercollegiate sports by maintaining both varsity and freshman teams and conducting managerial competitions in the following sports: football, soccer, cross country, wrestling, basketball, swimming, baseball, tennis, and track.

The Department of Physical Education and Intramural Athletics is directed by Fay C. Bartlett who is an Assistant Professor of Physical Education. The field of this department is the presentation of a favorable sports program to those students who do not take an active part in intercollegiate competitions. Intramural contests of all kinds are provided by the adequate gymnasium facilities. Howard R. "Bosey" Reiter is the professor of Physical Education and Morris E. Kanaly is an Instructor.

CHEERLEADERS

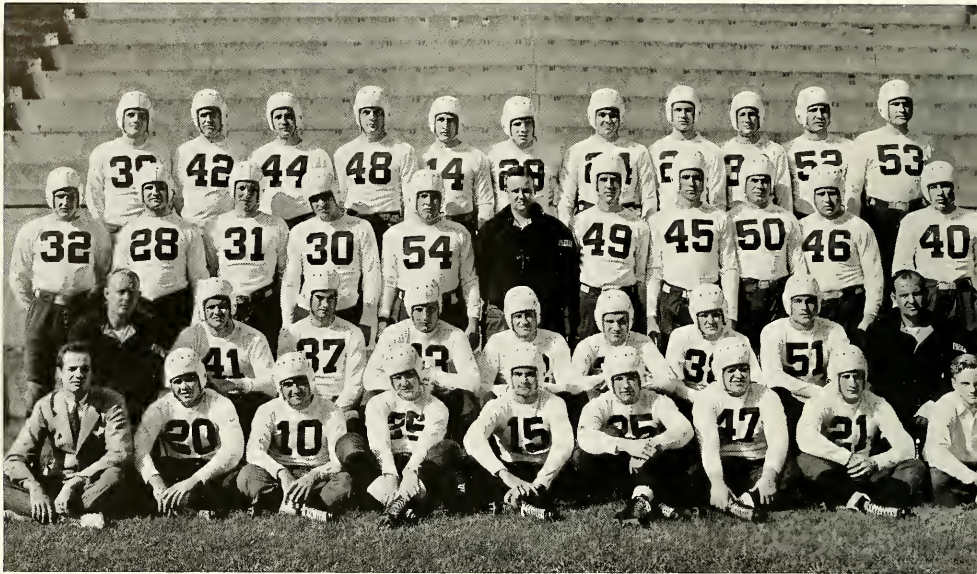

During the 1939-1940 sports season the cheerleaders revived the apparently lost art of cheering. Maynard Diamond, the head cheerleader, Carl Richardson, and James Steeg devised three new cheers and added new twists to some of the older ones. Tumbling was included for the first time and was executed by Frank McKenna. The new election system worked out by the leaders was put into effect this year with very satisfactory results.

FOOTBALL

Although the Engineers' record of three victories and six losses is not very impressive, many bright spots overshadow the rather disastrous season. Despite defeats at the hands of Lafayette, Penn State, Rutgers, Muhlenberg, Case, and Alfred, the Brown and White managed to roll up large scores against Haverford, Delaware, and Buffalo. Al Cox and Steve Smoke, key men of last year's offense and defense, sustained injuries before the start of the season and were greatly handicapped by these injuries throughout the entire grid season.

The brighter side of the picture includes Bill Loomis' fine kicking in the struggle with the Nit-tany men which set the Lions back deep in their own territory on numerous occasions. Captain-elect Bill Hauserman's line work was noticeably brilliant. Paul Duyckinck's placekicking accounted for many valuable field goals and conversion points. Captain Al Cox passed accurately throughout the season and one of his bullet passes to Charles Griffiths in the Lafayette game accounted for the initial tally of the game. Thrill moment of the year was when Lester Rosenfeld tossed a 58 yard pass to Bill Simpson for a touch-down in the same contest when there were but seconds left to play.

Hauserman, Cox, Smoke, and Herb Feucht received honorable mention on All-American, All-East, and All-Pennsylvania elevens. Walter B. Okeson, chairman of the Rules Committee, was named one of football's immortals.

WRESTLING

Contrary to pre-season predictions, this year Lehigh again rose to mat supremacy in the East. Although the squad was inexperienced, the keen competition for each varsity position provided a great incentive for daily improvement.

A green but inspired Lehigh team outbattled Big Six Champion Kansas State in the opening dual meet. Brenneman clinched the 13½-12½ victory by decisioning Kansas State's heavy-weight in the evening's most exciting bout. Led by Captain Masem, Lehigh then upset a highly touted Yale team 20½-11½. Penn State and Lehigh wrestled to a 12-12 draw before an Interfraternity Ball crowd of 2000 enthusiastic spectators. As the teams were almost perfectly matched, there were three overtimes, two draws, and no falls.

A strong Navy team broke the Engineer's record of 16 consecutive meets without a loss by winning four bouts by decision and one with a fall. Coming back strong the Brown and White defeated Syracuse 20-8 but were surprised by Cornell 15-11. Lehigh wound up the regular season by decisively defeating Lafayette 25-5 and Princeton 27½-4½.

Lehigh attained the goal of every team in the East by annexing the Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Association Championship at Syracuse. By winning the 155 pound class, Captain Masem became the only wrestler ever to gain championships in three progressive classes. Shrad-er provided the Engineers with five points by upsetting Daughaday of Harvard. A second place by Brenneman and third places by Boyer and Quinn helped Lehigh to win its tenth championship since 1928. As there are eight lettermen returning, Lehigh should be an odds-on favorite to retain their title next year.

BASKETBALL

Princeton played host to the Lehigh basketball team in the opening contest for each team when the Engineers were immediately discouraged with a 40-29 defeat. This setback was rapidly amended by decisive victories over Upsala and Stevens. The Penn A. C., Gettysburg, Villanova, Muhlenberg, and Scranton then proceeded to triumph over the Brown and White quintet.

Muhlenberg and Rutgers fell before our team in two unexpected upsets, but speedy teams from Swarthmore and P. M. C. stalled the Lehigh assault by 50-36 and 42-38 scores respectively. Bob Reber's 29 points, the largest single score by a Lehigh man in over ten years, paced a crushing victory over Lafayette 57-40. Two defeats in return engagements with Rutgers and Lafayette concluded the season.

Herb Feucht led the team with 114 points in 15 games. Reber took second honors with 100 in eight games. Lehigh's victory over the Scarlet on the New Brunswick court was the first Engineer triumph there since 1926. Captain Charles Griffiths' 17 points in the second Muhlenberg contest paced the Brown and White 46-44 upset over the Mules in the closest game of the season. After the Allentown school had built up a substantial lead late in the second half, the coach rushed in his J. V. team. Lehigh took advantage of the turn of events and rapidly overcame the Mule advantage and held the replaced varsity down until the final whistle had been blown.

SOCCER

Coach Carpenter's call for soccer candidates this season was answered by 59 men. This was one of the best turnouts in the history of the sport at Lehigh.

The Brown and White opened the season against a formidable Penn State team that had not tasted defeat in the last six years. Although Lehigh held Penn State to a scoreless first period, the pace was too much for them and they lost 5 to 1. Next Lehigh outplayed a strong Navy team at Annapolis but was unable to break a scoreless deadlock.

The Engineers hit their stride against Penn in the opening home appearance and were the victors 2 to 1, but an underrated Swarthmore team ran up a score of 5 to 0 against a Lehigh team that couldn't find itself. The Brown and White came from behind to tie Stevens at 5 all. The large turnout of Lehigh fans at Haverford was disappointed when the team didn't click and was upset 5 to 0. The Engineers put up a game fight but lost to a highly touted Princeton club 4 to 0.

Syracuse's 4 to 0 victory was one of Lehigh's worst games, but they rebounded against Cornell to play the season's hardest fought battle. Until the last minute of the second extra period the nets were untouched, but that goal provided the margin of victory for the Bears. Lehigh completed a mediocre season when they lost to their traditional rivals, Lafayette.

As there are ten lettermen returning, next year's team should have a banner season.

CROSS COUNTRY

Opening its 1939 season against Swarthmore, the Cross Country team downed the Garnet men 27-28. Captain "Whitey" Elmer took first place and established a new record for the tedious four and one half mile Swarthmore course. Larry Compton took fourth place, George Lennox, sixth, Jim Bleiler, seventh, and Dukes Wooters and Len Schneider tied for ninth place.

Running their next meet with Rutgers, the Brown and White Harriers were defeated 20-55. "Whitey" Elmer again won first place, clipping fifty seconds from the Rutgers course record. The next seven places, however, were taken by Rutgers men.

The Harriers next journeyed to Allentown where they were downed by Muhlenberg 24-51.

Elmer broke his third course record of the season and won his sixth consecutive intercollegiate race. The Mules, however, took the next four places, establishing a Muhlenberg victory. Compton finished sixth and was closely followed by Wooters, Bleiler, and Schneider. This is one of the meets that should have been in the win column, but, handicapped by the short three mile course, the Lehigh five milers never hit their stride.

The final meet of the season was lost to the traditional Lafayette rivals 19-56. This meet was the heartbreak of the season. A stitch caused "Whitey" to give up first place to the Leopard captain in the last mile. George Lennox broke his foot and was forced to drop to the rear, assuring a Lafayette victory.

BASEBALL

Opening its 1959 season with a game against Massachusetts State on a cold wintry day, Lehigh's baseball team, though playing faultless ball, lost 4-1 to an equally careful opponent. In the second game, which was against Swarthmore, the Brown and White had victory in the bag on more than one occasion but let it slip away and finally lost 7-6. Both teams played poor baseball but made up for this by an abundance of hits. In the Gettysburg game, the following week, the Lehigh team came through with its initial victory, made possible by exceptionally fine hitting.

In the next game, which was with the Rutgers team, the Engineers went down before the superior pitching of the Scarlet hurler. The game was, however, closer than the 6-2 score indicates. The Brown and White then lost in quick succession to Drexel and twice to Muhlenberg. In the second game with the Mules the Engineers, out to avenge their previous defeat, led the Muhlenberg team all the way to two outs in the ninth, when Muhlenberg tied the score, 5-5, with a home run, winning the game in the tenth inning, by a score of 9-5.

After four successive defeats the Brown and White again hit the win column by defeating Upsala 11-5 and Haverford 14-5 in the course of two days. Stretching their record to three successive wins, they avenged their previous Rutgers defeat by beating the Scarlet nine 10-9. Rained out of their Lafayette game, the Engineers set a new win record of four successive games with a 19-10 victory over P. M. C. Ending the season with two losses to Lafayette, Lehigh showed its best record in a number of years, having five wins and eight losses.

TRACK

The Lehigh track team, captained by Cary Evans, opened its 1939 season on April 15 with its nineteenth dual meet against Haverford. A chance to even the series was presented but to no avail for Haverford won, 79-47. F. B. Snyder, however, set a new Lehigh mark in the shot put with a throw of 45 feet 4 inches, and dual marks were set in the pole vault and broad jump.

Recovering from their set-back the week before, the Engineers garnered a well earned 64-62 victory over Swarthmore. Captain Evans again set a dual mark in the pole vault and firsts were taken in the shot put, the dashes, and javelin. Four days later the team continued its winning streak by beating Muhlenberg 64½-61½.

At the Penn Relays, Lehigh's team finished third in their division of the mile relay, and Evans placed third in the pole vault at 12 feet 6 inches.

The following weekend the Engineers moved to Rutgers for their twentieth meet and lost to the tune of 96-50. Here Evans continued his good work in the pole vault, and Wooters and Seltzer won the 440 yard dash and the broad jump respectively.

In the final meet of the season the Lehigh squad lost a heart-breaker to Lafayette, 68-58. In this meet Walt Wells won the javelin throw, thus earning his ninth varsity "L" and Rabold took the discus event with a toss of 150 feet 5 inches.

Entered in the M. A. S. C. A. A. championships, the Lehigh team made 15 points to tie for fifth place.

Opening its 1940 season against the University of Pennsylvania, the Lehigh Swimming team, captained by Jack O'Meara, threatened to upset the powerful Penn team early in the meet but lost 45-25. The Engineers then lost to the Navy, Rutgers, and Delaware. In the Delaware meet the Brown and White lost 59-56, but in spite of the fact that they were hampered by illnesses, almost emerged victorious.

The following week a meet with Johns Hopkins gave the Engineers their first win of the season, 52-25. They then lost 59-24 to Lafayette and in the last meet of the season defeated Swarthmore, 54-21. In this meet Bill Simpson won his seventh consecutive victory in the 100 yd. free style and thus was undefeated in this event for the entire season. By adding victories in the 50 yd. and the 220 yd. free style, he scored the most points, 75, ever made by a Lehigh swimmer in one season. Letters were awarded to: O'Meara, Evans, Folwell, Malinowski, Mayer, Moss, Mulhausen, Scott, Shelly, Gregg, Wright, MacFeeters, Palmer, Simpson, Kornet and Watkins.

Hampered in the past by the lack of a coach, the fencing team this year appointed Valentino Argento to that position. Argento, former Olympic champion, was well acquainted with the relative ability of the men in the club, as he had prepared last year's team for the Eastern Intercollegiate matches.

The schedule this year was a difficult one, and even though the team lost most of its matches, it conquered its traditional rival Lafayette in a closely contested match, 14-13. The weak spot of the team throughout the year seemed to lie in the foil team which, with the exception of Dick Bright, was made up of men who had been fencing for only one year. However, only one member on the three teams who graduates is Bill Clark, and the prospects for a well-balanced team next year are very bright. The men on the foil team were Dick Bright, Panos Georgopulo, Curt Weber, and Don Eadie. The epee team consisted of Bill Clark, Carl Hartdegen, Bob Nicrosini, and Dick Slee, while Harvey Griffith, Dick Bright, Alver Ives, and Charles Savage were the men who represented the saber team.

HOCKEY

Starting its 1939-40 season with a small grant from the University, and under the voluntary coaching of Professor Charles W. Simmons, the Lehigh University Ice Hockey Club proved itself to be an important part of the Lehigh sports program. Though it finished on the short end of some of the scores, the club nevertheless aroused a great deal of student interest and took fourth place in the Eastern Pennsylvania Amateur Hockey League.

Promoting the first large scale intercollegiate hockey contest ever attempted by a Lehigh team, the Hockey Club ran a special excursion train to the Hershey Sports Arena at Hershey, Pa. for the Lafayette game. The excursion was supported by 550 Lehigh rooters including contingents from Cedar Crest and Moravian College for Women, and was a huge success even though Lafayette won. The team lost four out of the five games played, but as far as student interest is concerned, it had its most successful season. It is now recognized by the University for the first time since the founding of the Club.

Opening the 1959 season against Navy, the Lehigh team could not cope with a strong second half attack by the Midshipmen and lost by one point. After a discouraging defeat inflicted by the Rutgers squad, the Engineers bounced back to win the first leg on the Dr. William Estes Trophy by defeating the Lafayette team before a large houseparty crowd. Following this initial victory, the Brown and White lost to Swarthmore, winner of the Pennsylvania Lacrosse League, and Yale. Playing under adverse weather conditions the club lost two heart-breaking games to Stevens and Lafayette. Trips to Princeton and to Penn State resulted in two defeats, which gave the Brown and White a record of one victory against eight defeats.

At the end of the season Captain-elect Delany was awarded a position at defense on the All-Pennsylvania team. "Chick" Grant was chosen for the second team attack and "Tubby" Franks received honorable mention. Adolph Haffenreffer, Richard Tiebout, Doug Paul, William Luce, John Adrian, Frank Glueck, and Philip Rodgers also played on the first team.

TENNIS

The Lehigh netmen's record of ten wins with but two losses is criterion enough for the success of the season. With Marvin D. Kantrowitz, a sophomore, playing in the number one spot and senior captain Grant B. Stetson in the second spot the tennis team started the season off with an 8-1 victory over Swarthmore. Successive 9-0 defeats inflicted upon Albright, Gettysburg, and Pittsburgh brought hopes with them for an undefeated season. The Blue Devils of Duke soon dashed these hopes with a 6-5 victory over the Engineers. Colgate, Johns Hopkins, Muhlenberg, Haverford, Lafayette, and Rutgers all fell before the Brown and White, while Pennsylvania handed the racquetmen their only other defeat, a 9-0 shutout.

Captain-elect Phillip G. DeHuff, Jr. and James A. Marvin, two sophomores, Paul H. Bartholomew, a senior, and two juniors, John H. Colbaugh and Carlton E. Creitz filled out the squad. Kantrowitz lost but one match during the season, that to Bellis of Penn, a national ranking player. As a result of the victories over the Scarlet and Leopards, Lehigh won the Middle Three title.

Although Lehigh's golf team had neither coach nor scheduled practices, Captain Carringer molded the 20 competitors into a commendable team.

The Brown and White divot-diggers opened the season on the Swarthmore fairways. Both teams were hindered by snow flurries, but the Garnet golfers took five firsts to win the match 5½-5½. Carpenter and McMillen featured the match for Lehigh with a best ball of 70. The Engineers played host to Penn on a wet course and defeated them 5½-5½. Both Temple and Haverford proved to be too capable for Lehigh and Yale outclassed them completely. However, Wesleyan and F. & M. went down under the local linksmen by decisive scores while Lafayette was white-washed 9-0. Pete Carpenter, captain-elect, was the most consistent golfer on the team, and his low scores contributed greatly to Lehigh's success. Other lettermen were Carringer, McMillen, Attwood, Ryan, Oskin, McAfee, and Mack.

The 1940 prospects are extremely bright as Ralph Hutchison, Saucon Valley Pro. will assist in the coaching of the team.

FOOTBALL

Founder's Day was featured by the freshman football team outplaying and defeating a strong Junior Varsity eleven. This, however, proved to be the yearlings' sole victory of the season. Plagued by pass interceptions and a poor pass defense, the Lehigh frosh lost to Hun School, Blair Academy, Perkiomen, and the freshman teams of Rutgers and Lafayette. Lehigh was at its best against Rutgers, but a touchdown pass in the last 30 seconds decided the game in their favor. Although the freshman team didn't do so well in competition, it performed very well as a shock troop against the Brown and White Varsity in practice. Several of the yearlings showed plenty of promise and will be decided assets to the Varsity during the next three years.

WRESTLING

Although Lehigh's freshman wrestlers were comparatively inexperienced when they first reported for practice, they showed up as a well balanced group of fighters during competition. In the opening meet Mercersberg Academy scored their fourth consecutive victory over the Lehigh yearlings, 19-11. Improving steadily, however, the frosh matmen defeated Blair, Wyoming Seminary, and the Lafayette freshman, but lost to a superior Princeton team. The victories over Wyoming Seminary and Blair were significant in that these Prep schools placed second and third in Lehigh's prep school tournament. Although Byrne was undefeated, Golden secured the most points for the yearlings by showing four opponents the rafters. These men in particular should be strong varsity contenders next year.

BASKETBALL

The Freshman basketball team completed a successful season by defeating the Lafayette frosh 37-52, thus clinching their Middle Three title. In the opening game Hun School handed the freshmen their only defeat, 56-50. Successive victories over Wyoming Seminary, Perkiomen Prep, Freeland M. & M. I., and two victories over both the Rutgers and Lafayette yearlings rounded out the season. Outstanding player was Bill Binder, former Blair captain, who compiled 159 points in the eight games played. Binder scored 24 and 25 points in the Rutgers games and 22 in the second Lafayette contest. Harry Olinsky performed noticeably well in the guard position, with Bob Whipple and Harry Herold playing capably at the forward and center posts, respectively.

SWIMMING

The Lehigh Freshman Swimming team did not fare so well this season, for it was defeated by Blair Academy 45-22, Rutgers Freshmen 35-30, Mercersberg Academy 52-25, and by Lafayette Freshmen 41-25. Dave Schaper, who was undefeated in the 50 and 100-yard free style, was elected captain by the team. He broke records in both events at Blair and Mercersberg, with times for the two events of 23.9 and 56.4 seconds. Last year Schaper was ranked as the 10th best schoolboy swimmer in the country and won the Pennsylvania State Championship in the 50 yard event. Francis Chidsey broke the freshman 100 yard backstroke record at Blair with a time of 1:09. Other members of the team were DeGrouchy, Bashford, Rappuhn, Nelken, Kirschner, Ryan, Swartz, Benesch, Bushey, Hogan, and Gastmeyer.

LEHIGH UNIVERSITY

Lehigh University is non-sectarian and has adhered to high standards in "the education of youth" from the beginning. Its alumni have been markedly successful in nearly all walks of life, and particularly in the industrial and professional world. Lehigh is fortunate in the picturesque beauty of its situation on the "breast of old South Mountain" and in its central location with respect to centers of population (50 miles from Philadelphia, 90 miles from New York) and of industry (steel, cement, coal, silk and manufactures). Its graduates, therefore, are advantageously circumstanced in finding positions. Living expenses at Lehigh are reasonable, and with two other colleges in the city, Bethlehem affords a good educational environment.

COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCE

The College of Arts and Science, while maintaining courses in languages and the humanities which constitute the traditional cultural arts college, at the same time, offers optional groups which lead to professional and graduate schools and to vocations, such as

Actuarial Practice	Government Service
Bacteriological Investigations and Controls	Journalism
Economic Geology	Optics
Education	Personnel Psychology

Graduates have achieved distinction in the country's leading schools of Law, Dentistry and Medicine.

COLLEGE OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

The developments of the past century have made the business organization and the economic structures of the country of paramount importance. The College of Business Administration at Lehigh has attained wide recognition for its teachings and writings in this field. The undergraduate courses offered in this college lead to careers in such fields as

Mercantile Establishments	Public Utilities
Banking	Business Statistics
Investment Banking	Investment Houses
Accounting	Marketing

COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING

The laboratories and other facilities for engineering education provide for thoroughly scientific professional training in the various branches of engineering and technology. Separate curricula are offered in

Chemistry	Industrial Engineering
Chemical Engineering	Mechanical Engineering
Civil Engineering	Metallurgical Engineering
Electrical Engineering	Mining Engineering
Physics and Engineering Physics

GRADUATE SCHOOL

Graduate study leading to the master's degree is offered in most departments of the University, and for the Ph.D. in chemistry, geology, history, mathematics, mechanical engineering, metallurgical engineering, physics, and structural engineering.

WHAT HAPPENED TO THE EQUITABLE PREMIUM DOLLAR IN 1939

To each $1 of premium income

There was added 28 cents as earnings from the Society's investments making a total income for the year of $1.28.

This $1.28 was used as follows:

BENEFIT PAYMENTS to widows and children, to educate sons and daughters, to provide carefree old age, etc. took 53 cents—45 cents were set aside as reserve funds to meet future benefit payments—Thus in 1939, 98 cents went for present and future benefit payments to policyholders and beneficiaries—Taxes required 2 cents—Operating expenses of the Society required 10 cents and 4 cents was added to contingency reserves and surplus. As this is a mutual society, the remaining 14 cents was paid out as dividends to policyholders. Making a total of $1.12 which went for the direct benefit of policyholders and beneficiaries.

Everyone knows the peace of mind that comes from dealing with an individual or concern that gives a feeling of competence. It is possible to create such an impression only when long experience has been had in a particular field, as is the case with this Company. We have been printing publications and catalogs for more than 65 years.

We are proud to present this school annual as a sample of the craftsmanship, design and service of which we are capable. This yearbook was produced under the advantageous conditions of an enlarged and replanned building with considerable additional equipment and a more modernized and efficient plant arrangement. All the benefits of improved quality and more efficient production are passed on to the customer in increased facilities for rendering service. It was a pleasure to work with the staff in a cooperative effort to accomplish such a meritorious task as this excellent book. We extend congratulations.
